Marine Killed In Grenade Battle

9 Americans Die, 2 Hurt As Copters Collide In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Army helicopters collided in the air and crashed in flames today at the Bien Hoa Air Base. Nine Americans were killed and two seriously injured.

A 10th American, a Marine, was killed when Viet Cong guerrillas and U.S. Marines fought a grenade battle before dawn six miles west of the Chu Lai beachhead 52 miles south of Da Nang. It was the first serious attack on the Marine defenses at Chu Lai, where U.S. Navy Seabees are building a jet airstrip.

Ten Marines were wounded, two of them seriously. Six Viet Cong bodies were found and a wounded guerrilla was captured.

The two helicopters collided about 50 to 100 feet up and crashed in an open patch of ground 200 yards from the helicopter area of the Bien Hoa base 15 miles north of Saigon. Both were troop-carrying craft attached to the 118th U.S. Army Helicopter Company.

Eight of the occupants were killed outright and the ninth died three hours later in the base hospital.

Aviators from the company rushed to the scene and pulled the three injured men from the wreckage. Wreckage was strewn over a large area.

First reports said one of the helicopters was returning from Saigon with an Army helicopter crewman who had been injured several days ago in the foot by a Viet Cong bullet. He was returning to his unit.

The other ship reportedly was leaving the helicopter pad outside the Vietnamese 3rd Corps headquarters.

"They met at the same place," an eyewitness said.

The helicopters collided about 50 feet up. One burst into flames. The other appeared to break up in the air, then caught fire.

On May 16 a series of explosions smashed through lines of U.S. and Vietnamese bombers at the other side of the Bien Hoa base, killing 26 Americans and injuring more than 100. U.S. officials said that also was an accident, but an investigation is still under way.

U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes pounded three radar sites and one ferry in North Viet Nam with bombs and rockets today. Heavy antiaircraft fire was reported at some points, a spokesman said, but all planes returned safely.

Twelve U.S. Thunderchiefs hit the Hon Nieu and Hon Matt radar sites, located about 10 miles offshore 130 miles north of the border, with over 30 tons of 750-pound bombs.

A spokesman said heavy damage was inflicted to both sites, but that smoke and fires in the area prevented further damage assessments.

Attacking with mortars and recoilless rifles, Viet Cong forces overran a government outpost 15 miles southwest of Saigon, killed 24 regional force troops and wounded 12.

U.S. military spokesmen said an unknown number of regional troops also were missing following the attack on the outpost at Mea Thanh Ha. One Viet Cong was reported killed.

Addresses Baylor U. Commencement

Johnson To Order 1,700 Back From Caribbean Isle

WACO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson announced today he is issuing orders to withdraw 1,700 American military men from the Dominican Republic.

But he warned at the same time that in the hemisphere "we can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos." And he called for "new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

In an address prepared for commencement exercises at Baylor University — once headed by his great grandfather George Washington Baines — Johnson said, "When forces of freedom move slowly — whether on political, economic or military fronts — the forces of slavery and subversion move rapidly and decisively."

The President said that one of the lessons learned during the past four weeks in the Dominican Republic is that "it is clear that we need new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

"When hours can decide the fate of generations, the moment of decision must become the moment of action," he added.

The 1,700 troops the President said are being withdrawn are in addition to 1,600 he said have been withdrawn over the past two days.

And Johnson said he has instructed Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer, commander of U.S. forces in the Dominican Republic, "to discuss possible further withdrawals" with Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim of Brazil, commander of the Organization of American States forces in the revolt-torn Caribbean country.

Johnson said the necessity for quick action is one of "the new realities" made apparent by the Dominican situation.

The President has been criticized in some quarters for not advising other hemisphere nations before announcing his decision April 28 to send military forces to the Dominican Republic.

Today, in discussing the Communist threat within the hemisphere, Johnson said:

"We know that when a Communist group seeks to exploit misery, the entire free inter-American system is put in deadly danger. We also know that these dangers can be found today in many of our lands. There is no trouble anywhere these evil forces will not try to turn to their advantage. We can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos."

The President, speaking of U.S. goals, said, "We want for the peoples of this hemisphere only what they want for themselves — liberty, justice, dignity, a better life."

Johnson said that more than a few agitators were needed "to bring on the tragic and cruel bloodshed in the Dominican Republic."

He said they had "additional help and a deeper cause."

The President associated the "deeper cause" with areas where the poor and the oppressed find difficulty entering the gates of opportunity.

Makes OAS Paymaster

U.S. Gives $6 Million For Dominicans' Salaries

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The United States gave the Organization of American States a new lever against the bankrupt Dominican junta today by making it paymaster for government employes.

OAS Secretary-General Jose A. Mora announced that Washington has given his organization $6 million to pay the salaries of government workers loyal to either the junta or rebel factions.

Mora said troops from the newly created Inter-American Force have been stationed inside the bank to prevent the junta from using the funds to pay salaries.

No reason for the move was given, but it was presumably aimed at pressuring the junta into negotiating with the rebels to form a coalition government.

An attempt by special envoys of President Johnson to get the rebel and junta factions to set up a coalition headed by the former agriculture minister, Antonio Guzman, has been rejected by the junta president, Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera. Inbert denounced the plan as a "frank intervention in the internal affairs" of the Deominican Republic.

Imbert assailed the coalition formula before several thousand cheering followers Thursday at a rally in front of the National Congress Palace in Santo Domingo.

Imbert accused the OAS of exceeding its authority in occupying the government's Central Bank without permission of his junta.

Imbert told U.S. officials Wednesday the junta needed $3.5 million to meet government payrolls in the next two weeks. Since he took over a little more than two weeks ago, the United States has given the Dominican government $3.95 million to keep it from collapsing. The money came from pesos accumulated by the United States in Dominican payments for U.S. supplies.

Economists reported that with no revenue coming in, the $3.95 million has been used up.

President Johnson announced that he is issuing orders to withdraw 1,700 more U.S. troops from the Dominican Republic.

Johnson said in an address prepared for commencement exercises at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., that these are in addition to the 1,600 U.S. troops who have been withdrawn over the past two days.

The victim was identified tentatively as Robert Auten, who resided on a rural road approximately four-tenths of a mile off Route 2.

City Burglary Cleared With Trio's Arrest

An East End market burglary which netted 137 cartons of cigarettes apparently has been cleared with the arrest of three Akron men accused of breaking into a service station at Bayard and a store west of Minerva, East Liverpool police said today.

George Keys, 41, Henry Oliver, 27, and Henry Lee Cooper, 43, were arrested at North Canton on an alert broadcast by the Columbiana County sheriff's office after they fled the scene of a burglary at Chuck's Pure Oil Station at Bayard.

Police Chief A. J. Radeschi and Capt. Robert Pyle said tax code numbers on cartons of cigarettes found in the trunk of the men's car match the tax code numbers of the cigarettes stolen Wednesday night or early Thursday at Wilson's Golden Dawn Store, 1719 Pennsylvania Ave. The loot was valued at approximately $340.

Charles Favazzo, owner of the Bayard station, telephoned the sheriff's office at Lisbon at 2:30 Thursday morning and reported a trio had burglarized his station. He said his wife was awakened by a noise, looked out a window of their adjoining home, and saw the suspects place some items in their auto and drive away.

Acting on the description furnished by Columbiana County Deputies, Stark County authorities took the trio into custody. In the meantime, they were involved in the third burglary near Minerva, police said.

East Liverpool police, conferring this morning with Sheriff Russell VanFossan's office at Lisbon, learned the three have been returned to the County Jail and are awaiting arraignment — possibly today — before County Judge James L. MacDonald on the charge of breaking into the Bayard service station.

Following the arraignment they are scheduled for return to

Toll May Hit 400 In India Mine Blast

200 Known Dead, 200 More Either Killed Or Trapped

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A tremendous predawn explosion ripped through a coal mine near the eastern Indian town of Dhanbad today, killing 200 miners and killing or trapping perhaps 200 more.

The Ministry of Mines in New Delhi gave the figure of 200 known killed and said the death toll might reach 400.

Reports from the scene said the force of the explosion was so great that a blast shot up the mine shaft and killed men working on the surface.

One Indian newsman at Dhanbad said an engine room and nearby office on the surface had been devastated by the blast.

The ministry said the explosion occurred at the worst possible moment—at shift changing time, when the number of miners underground was double a normal shift.

Ministry officials said indications were that coal dust was responsible for the explosion.

Coal dust can gather in explosive quantities in mines, even hanging suspended in the air. Under the right conditions, a spark can set off an explosion.

Delay Looms For Gemini Space Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A bad battery cell today forced postponement of a practice flight for next week's orbital mission by astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White. Officials said there was a possibility the trouble could delay the June 3 launching.

Mission director Christopher C. Kraft Jr., said a decision whether to postpone the astronauts' trip would be made late Saturday or Sunday after the battery had been changed and several evalution tests had been made.

The battery problem turned up today shortly after McDivitt and White began running through a rehearsal for their four-day orbital trip.

The battery is located in an equipment section attached to the base of the Gemini 4 spacecraft. It is one of four similar batteries which provide power to vehicle systems during flight.

Israeli Force Stages Raids Into Jordan

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli paratroopers and infantrymen made three raids into neighboring Jordan Thursday night and claimed destruction of a fuel depot and six buildings used as bases for sabotage raids on Israel.

A Jordanian military spokesman said the Israelis, in blowing up two farmhouses, killed two farmers and two children and injured four other farmers. The Israelis said they made sure all the buildings were uninhabited before destroying them.

An Israeli communique said seven Israeli soldiers were injured, four seriously, when a grenade exploded accidentally as they were returning to Israel.

The Jordanian spokesman said Jordanian forces clashed with two of the Israeli patrols, injuring the commander of one of them. Neither side reported any Jordanian military casualties.

The Jordan government said it reported the attacks to the Arab Joint Supreme Command, the current Cairo meeting of the Arab premiers and the U.N.

Toll May Hit 400 In India Mine Blast

200 Known Dead, 200 More Either Killed Or Trapped

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A tremendous predawn explosion ripped through a coal mine near the eastern Indian town of Dhanbad today, killing 200 miners and killing or trapping perhaps 200 more.

The Ministry of Mines in New Delhi gave the figure of 200 known killed and said the death toll might reach 400.

Reports from the scene said the force of the explosion was so great that a blast shot up the mine shaft and killed men working on the surface.

One Indian newsman at Dhanbad said an engine room and nearby office on the surface had been devastated by the blast.

The ministry said the explosion occurred at the worst possible moment—at shift changing time, when the number of miners underground was double a normal shift.

Ministry officials said indications were that coal dust was responsible for the explosion.

Coal dust can gather in explosive quantities in mines, even hanging suspended in the air. Under the right conditions, a spark can set off an explosion.

Delay Looms For Gemini Space Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A bad battery cell today forced postponement of a practice flight for next week's orbital mission by astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White. Officials said there was a possibility the trouble could delay the June 3 launching.

Mission director Christopher C. Kraft Jr., said a decision whether to postpone the astronauts' trip would be made late Saturday or Sunday after the battery had been changed and several evalution tests had been made.

The battery problem turned up today shortly after McDivitt and White began running through a rehearsal for their four-day orbital trip.

The battery is located in an equipment section attached to the base of the Gemini 4 spacecraft. It is one of four similar batteries which provide power to vehicle systems during flight.

Israeli Force Stages Raids Into Jordan

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli paratroopers and infantrymen made three raids into neighboring Jordan Thursday night and claimed destruction of a fuel depot and six buildings used as bases for sabotage raids on Israel.

A Jordanian military spokesman said the Israelis, in blowing up two farmhouses, killed two farmers and two children and injured four other farmers. The Israelis said they made sure all the buildings were uninhabited before destroying them.

An Israeli communique said seven Israeli soldiers were injured, four seriously, when a grenade exploded accidentally as they were returning to Israel.

The Jordanian spokesman said Jordanian forces clashed with two of the Israeli patrols, injuring the commander of one of them. Neither side reported any Jordanian military casualties.

The Jordan government said it reported the attacks to the Arab Joint Supreme Command, the current Cairo meeting of the Arab premiers and the U.N.

Midland Sets Incinerator Plant Survey

Councilmen Engage Michael Baker For West End Study

Midland Council Thursday night took a giant step toward a new incinerator plant for the borough when it voted to engage the Michael Baker, Inc., engineering firm of Rochester as consulting engineer for future major projects.

The firm will be instructed to survey and study a section of land at the western end of the borough to see if it will accommodate what Mayor Eli Corak referred to as a "modern incinerator plant capable of burning both rubbish and garbage, and with a capacity to serve a community of 50,000 people."

If the site for the proposed plant is adequate, the firm will be instructed to apply on behalf of the borough to the Area Development Association in Phila-

County Home Move Hit By Commissioner Boyd

LISBON — County Commissioner James Boyd, only Republican on the three - member board, today took a strong stand against transfer of the County Home to the welfare department.

Boyd, of St. Clair Ave. Ext., gave full support to County Home Supt. Russell Phillis, who Thursday advised the commissioners he will not serve under supervision of the welfare department.

Commissioners R. Max Gard of Lisbon R.D. and Frank Wilson of Wellsville, both Democrats, have been seeking transfer of the County Home to the county's welfare department to make it eligible for more federal funds and to remove the home from direct control by the board of commissioners.

Gard has said the transfer would help get politics out of the administration of the home which has been a controversial issue for several years.

Phyllis, appearing before the commissioners yesterday, pointed out legal procedures prevent transfer of control of the home without the consent of the superintendent.

Boyd said today he opposed the transfer.

"We asked the public to support a .65-mill levy to assist in operating the home and they voted in favor of it. Should we not put the home under state and federal control? Are we ready to relinquish our freedom of local government and take orders and handouts from a centralized authority?

"Are we losing the spirit that makes the U.S. the strongest, richest nation in the world?

"In my opinion, the home is being very capably operated and the people have reason to be proud of it. Major improvments have been made in the past several years. We have a fine, modern dairy barn and a fine herd of dairy cattle and beef cattle, hogs and chickens."

"The patients who are able to work are given jobs which fit their capabilities, and they enjoy it."

Boyd said Phillis' report for 1964 shows the farm had a cash income of $12,800, with an estimated $25,000 in farm products consumed at the home. "To date no one has challenged this report."

He said the furnishings for the new nursing home have been ordered, "and if everyone cooperates with the superintendent, this unit could be in operation by July 1.

Gosney Asks Joint Bid For Road Dollars

The Democratic and Republican parties should act jointly, if necessary, to make certain that Columbiana County receives its share of highway dollars from the State Highway Department, Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, declared Thursday night in a speech to the Columbiana village Democratic club.

"We are not getting our share of highway improvements from Columbus," Gosney said. "The county has to fight to get its share."

"I proposed that both parties join together to let state officials know we want our share of the highway dollars for our county," Gosney said. "The Democratic party is willing to join with anyone to get the job done."

The party chairman added he is willing to appoint members of the Democratic party as a committee "to carry on the struggle for highways."

His speech was seen as an answer to statements made Monday by State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel and Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon, county Republican chairman, in which they defended Gov. James A. Rhodes against earlier attacks by the Democratic chairman. Gosney had asserted highway work in the county has lagged under Republican rule.

"I am glad the state representative finally is interested in something other than the coal interests," Gosney said.

He said he was pleased that the state has awarded a contract "after three years" for the next segment of the Ohio River-Lake Erie Highway.

"There is a great need for an east-west highway across Columbiana County," he added. "If Columbiana County is going to lose Route 62 to Mahoning County, we should fight to keep Route 14 and have it run south around Salem so that industries have decent roads," Gosney said.

delphia for a planning grant for the facility.

Michael Baker also will be asked to study a proposed project at the 12th St. entrance to the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., where four lane facilities have been proposed.

Council already has been in contact with the Atlantic Refining Co. concerning acquisition of land for the project.

R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, was instructed to complete a survey of a dead-end section of 3d St. in conjunction with plans to connect the section into Beaver and Pennsylvania Avenues. When completed, Steebner will advertise the specifications for bids.

Councilman Ray Presutti noted the advantages in easing traffic congestion and providing easy access to the area for fire and emergency equipment in the proposed extending of the street.

Steebner also was called on to advertise for bids for the resurfacing of Railroad Lane between 3d and 4th Sts., 1st St., to the bottom of Route 168 West, and a section of Wood Lane.

On the recommendation of Corak, Council adopted a resolution to permit any property owner in "K Plan," in the northeast section of the borough, who needs additional area for improvement or additional construction to wave any restrictions on current deeds.

Corak explained that the property in the section was brought originally from the Crucible Steele Co. and that some of the lots are of irregular shapes.

Council also discussed possible traffic congestion which may develop when Crucible goes through with a proposed plan which would close the 3d St. entrance into the mill to traffic.

At the request of Councilman Lester Trainer, the secretary, Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, was instructed to write Bert Breakiron, superintendent of public relations, requesting that he meet with Council to discuss possible solutions.

Council accepted the bid of the Waxler Auto Wrecking Service of Shippingport for some 15 abandoned autos on borough property. Waxler's bid of $185.25 was the only one received.

Members of the Smoke Control Committee and other members of Council were authorized to attend a public hearing on air pollution to be sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Health next Friday in Butler.

A request of Mrs. William Spizak, director of the Hi-Spot Youth Center for various supplies for the center was referred to committee.

Presutti reported that several pieces of playground equipment, ordered at the last meeting, had arrived and the street superintendent, Matt Brozik, was instructed to check several complaints concerning the cleaning of various streets.

He also was instructed to install a drinking fountain at the playground in Midland Heights.

William Vinovich, president, and chairman of the swimming pool committee reported that the Memorial pool would open Memorial Day as scheduled.

Hours for the first day will be 1 to 9 p. m. A schedule of 4 to 9 p. m. will be observed during the remainder of the school term, with the hours to be 1 to 9 p. m. during the summer months, he said.

Backs Superintendent

County Home Move Hit By Commissioner Boyd

LISBON — County Commissioner James Boyd, only Republican on the three - member board, today took a strong stand against transfer of the County Home to the welfare department.

Boyd, of St. Clair Ave. Ext., gave full support to County Home Supt. Russell Phillis, who Thursday advised the commissioners he will not serve under supervision of the welfare department.

Commissioners R. Max Gard of Lisbon R.D. and Frank Wilson of Wellsville, both Democrats, have been seeking transfer of the County Home to the county's welfare department to make it eligible for more federal funds and to remove the home from direct control by the board of commissioners.

Gard has said the transfer would help get politics out of the administration of the home which has been a controversial issue for several years.

Phyllis, appearing before the commissioners yesterday, pointed out legal procedures prevent transfer of control of the home without the consent of the superintendent.

Boyd said today he opposed the transfer.

"We asked the public to support a .65-mill levy to assist in operating the home and they voted in favor of it. Should we not put the home under state and federal control? Are we ready to relinquish our freedom of local government and take orders and handouts from a centralized authority?

"Are we losing the spirit that makes the U.S. the strongest, richest nation in the world?

"In my opinion, the home is being very capably operated and the people have reason to be proud of it. Major improvments have been made in the past several years. We have a fine, modern dairy barn and a fine herd of dairy cattle and beef cattle, hogs and chickens."

"The patients who are able to work are given jobs which fit their capabilities, and they enjoy it."

Boyd said Phillis' report for 1964 shows the farm had a cash income of $12,800, with an estimated $25,000 in farm products consumed at the home. "To date no one has challenged this report."

He said the furnishings for the new nursing home have been ordered, "and if everyone cooperates with the superintendent, this unit could be in operation by July 1.

Gosney Asks Joint Bid For Road Dollars

The Democratic and Republican parties should act jointly, if necessary, to make certain that Columbiana County receives its share of highway dollars from the State Highway Department, Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, declared Thursday night in a speech to the Columbiana village Democratic club.

"We are not getting our share of highway improvements from Columbus," Gosney said. "The county has to fight to get its share."

"I proposed that both parties join together to let state officials know we want our share of the highway dollars for our county," Gosney said. "The Democratic party is willing to join with anyone to get the job done."

The party chairman added he is willing to appoint members of the Democratic party as a committee "to carry on the struggle for highways."

His speech was seen as an answer to statements made Monday by State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel and Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon, county Republican chairman, in which they defended Gov. James A. Rhodes against earlier attacks by the Democratic chairman. Gosney had asserted highway work in the county has lagged under Republican rule.

"I am glad the state representative finally is interested in something other than the coal interests," Gosney said.

He said he was pleased that the state has awarded a contract "after three years" for the next segment of the Ohio River-Lake Erie Highway.

"There is a great need for an east-west highway across Columbiana County," he added. "If Columbiana County is going to lose Route 62 to Mahoning County, we should fight to keep Route 14 and have it run south around Salem so that industries have decent roads," Gosney said.

delphia for a planning grant for the facility.

Michael Baker also will be asked to study a proposed project at the 12th St. entrance to the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., where four lane facilities have been proposed.

Council already has been in contact with the Atlantic Refining Co. concerning acquisition of land for the project.

R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, was instructed to complete a survey of a dead-end section of 3d St. in conjunction with plans to connect the section into Beaver and Pennsylvania Avenues. When completed, Steebner will advertise the specifications for bids.

Councilman Ray Presutti noted the advantages in easing traffic congestion and providing easy access to the area for fire and emergency equipment in the proposed extending of the street.

Steebner also was called on to advertise for bids for the resurfacing of Railroad Lane between 3d and 4th Sts., 1st St., to the bottom of Route 168 West, and a section of Wood Lane.

On the recommendation of Corak, Council adopted a resolution to permit any property owner in "K Plan," in the northeast section of the borough, who needs additional area for improvement or additional construction to wave any restrictions on current deeds.

Corak explained that the property in the section was brought originally from the Crucible Steele Co. and that some of the lots are of irregular shapes.

Council also discussed possible traffic congestion which may develop when Crucible goes through with a proposed plan which would close the 3d St. entrance into the mill to traffic.

At the request of Councilman Lester Trainer, the secretary, Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, was instructed to write Bert Breakiron, superintendent of public relations, requesting that he meet with Council to discuss possible solutions.

Council accepted the bid of the Waxler Auto Wrecking Service of Shippingport for some 15 abandoned autos on borough property. Waxler's bid of $185.25 was the only one received.

Members of the Smoke Control Committee and other members of Council were authorized to attend a public hearing on air pollution to be sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Health next Friday in Butler.

A request of Mrs. William Spizak, director of the Hi-Spot Youth Center for various supplies for the center was referred to committee.

Presutti reported that several pieces of playground equipment, ordered at the last meeting, had arrived and the street superintendent, Matt Brozik, was instructed to check several complaints concerning the cleaning of various streets.

He also was instructed to install a drinking fountain at the playground in Midland Heights.

William Vinovich, president, and chairman of the swimming pool committee reported that the Memorial pool would open Memorial Day as scheduled.

Hours for the first day will be 1 to 9 p. m. A schedule of 4 to 9 p. m. will be observed during the remainder of the school term, with the hours to be 1 to 9 p. m. during the summer months, he said.

The Civil 'Right To Work'

We see and hear much about civil rights these days.

The federal government has moved swiftly to protect the individual against discrimination and segregation for whatever reason.

And except for pockets of resistance in some southern states, these moves, designed to implement decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court, have the approval and support of the vast majority of the people of our country.

And yet at the very moment civil rights are being guaranteed to all, regardless of race, color or national origin, in the cause of human dignity, efforts are being made to deny them to a man who works for a living and does not choose to join a union.

IF THIS country stands for civil rights, which it should, we feel strongly that it should run the full course and not fall short of protecting an individual pursuing a livelihood in whatever legitimate, lawful way he prefers to do so.

But the President of the United States believes otherwise and is asking to Congress to do so, too.

He has asked the nation's lawmakers to repeal Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Act of 1947, which permits the states to pass so-called right-to-work laws.

There are currently 19 states which have such laws. They protect the civil rights of a workman against compulsory union membership as a condition of employment.

In effect, the President wants to superimpose the authority of the federal government over that of the various state governments, whose legislators presumably have expressed the will of their constituents.

If ever states' rights had any claim to legitimate stature, which it most certainly does, it is in the area of right to work.

This is not a constitutional issue, such as the right to vote and the right to equal protection under the law. The right to hold a job without joining a union is a matter for state determination and should not be made a tool for federal manipulation under pressure from organized labor.

BY A THUMPING majority several years ago, the people of Ohio rejected a right-to-work law.

This was their right, and nobody today seriously disputes the status of this issue in our state.

But what of the 19 states which still have such a law? Is it a proper function of the federal government to tell the people or the legislators in those states that they are out of bounds, that Washington will make these decisions for them?

If any of the right-to-work states want to entertain repeal they have a perfect right to do so. This is their responsibility and should not be subject to the meddling encroachments of the federal government.

Organized labor, in support of a complete national ban of right-to-work laws, aims its heavy artillery at the fact that advantages gained through negotiations are also passed along to non-union members, who thereby, as non-dues-paying employes, are getting a free ride.

WE BELIEVE THIS to be labor's strongest argument. To circumvent it, we should suggest that the law be amended to guarantee benefits of negotiations only to union members. All others then would have to qualify for higher wages and better working conditions on the basis of their individual capabilities, which is the way most of them would prefer it.

Free choice is one of the most cherished freedoms of our way of life.

When we have it, we don't properly appreciate it.

Once we lose it, it is too late to regain it.

It is then that control over our own destinies will have run its course.

It Would Be Conclusive

Southern obstructionists who have been blocking the intent of the 15th amendment since it went into effect in 1870 will not give up.

Passage of one more bill affirming that no citizen of the United States shall be denied his constitutional right to vote will not discourage them.

Give them time and they will have thought up a new list of quasi-legal shenanigans to get around the latest law, just as they and their predecessors have been doing since Reconstruction.

There always has been one recourse available to these bogus constitutionalists they never have used. It would be conclusive.

They never have proposed repeal of the Reconstruction Amendments — the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments drafted by Republicans to offset the postwar plots of Rebel legalists.

These "constitutionalists" were prepared to perpetuate slavery by subterfuge. It therefore became necessary to block them with constitutional amendments so plain they couldn't get around them.

The 13th amendment said slavery and involuntary servitude could not exist under U.S. law. The 14th amendment said all persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to U.S. law were citizens and this fact could not be changed by state laws. It guaranteed the same privileges and immunities to all U.S. citizens. The 15th amendment read: "The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

All three Reconstruction Amendments, it was specified, could be enforced by congressional enactments, which is what Congress is doing right now.

If Southern legalists who go against their oath to defend the Constitution by tirelessly trying to undermine the 14th and 15th amendments really wanted a showdown, they would propose repeal of the two amendments.

They will never do this. They do not want a showdown. They want to argue about states' rights another 100 years.

Law Follows The Fact

The Ohio Legislature is having another go-around on capital punishment, with the usual result anticipated.

After a thorough airing of the issue, nothing will be changed, as far as state law is concerned.

But in the course of numerous go-arounds there has been a substantial change in state practice.

If Ohio ever did bar capital punishment, except for certain capital crimes heinous in themselves, such as political assassinations, the legal change merely would acknowledge the fact capital punishment has gone out of fashion.

It is virtually impossible to send anyone to the electric chair, the gas chamber, the gallows, or the shooting squad in the United States.

The public has lost its appetite for capital punishment. Even in the most violent crimes of first-degree murder there is no great urge any more to send convicted murderers to their death.

Two things have contributed to this changed feeling.

One is reluctance to carry out an irrevocable sentence that might turn out to have been unjustified in the light of evidence that might turn up later.

The other is an uncomfortable circumstance of murder cases — the fact that defendants who are well-defended are not sentenced to death.

Whether capital punishment is banned or not, it is being applied so sparingly that in effect it is as good as banned now.

GOS For Short

By Truman Twill

Comes now the time to sing the praises of Good Old Summertime — GOS for short.

Everybody stand up and holler for red ants in the cupboards, oats bugs in the breakfast cereal, mildew on the furniture, snakes in the flower garden, searching fingers of zillion-volt lightning seeking something suitable for instant frying;

Silver sequins scattered on a black velvet curtain dropped over the dying light of a summer evening, fragrant roses washed with crystal dew, fragrant zephyrs hinting of hideaway bowers, morning mists swept away by an imperious sun;

Humidity and the humility of sodden clothing, mosquitoes forcing illegal entry into ears and nostrils, angry welts of ivy poisoning, midsummer lassitude, painful sunburn, misshapen females in shorts trainsing through shopping centers;

Vistas of dazzling greenery on off-the-main-highway tours, fresh strawberries, tall, tinkling glassfuls of ice-cold summer beverages, uninhibited fun in amusement parks, sun-bathing on sandy beaches, blue-water sailing;

Keeping a stiff upper lip throughout crashing thunderstorms to set a good example for trembling dogs, cursing the weeds that outgrow everything else in the vicinity, complications with lawn-mowing machinery, squalling babies and kid-ridden mothers in highway restaurants;

Quiet fishing trips on undulating lakes and sweet-flowing rivers, siestas in hammocks hung in the cool shade of apple trees, lithe youngsters playing tennis, water-skiing and diving into crystalline pools, boys and girls walking hand-in-hand under beckoning trees;

News photos of drought-ruined fields, grubs in the lawn, Japanese beetles, cockroaches under the sink;

Fields of golden grain, morning and evening symphonies of bird classics, laughter under the moon, canoes silently gliding under the sheltering arms of lake-leaning willows, cook-outs, girl-watching, gardening, freedom from heavy clothing;

The doldrums, high-speed traffic smash-ups, melting asphalt, fatalities in heat waves, 17-year locusts, aphids, flies, termites, windstorms wrenching leaf-heavy branches off trees, sudden downpours, tourists, visiting relatives, gasping-hot nights and somnolent days;

Golden recollections of other summers that have been and people who are seen no more, flowers in endless profusion, freedom to come and go without worrying about the temperature, the gratification of being part of the good earth and the solid assurance that when summer finally comes winter is far behind.

A Look Into Minority Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

While President Johnson's message last week used only a few words to outline a request that Congress forbid the states to maintain any of their laws interfering with compulsory unionization, the administration, through the secretary of labor, Willard Wirtz, now has given a full explanation of its reasons for sponsoring the move.

David Lawrence

Mr. Wirtz declares that "the real issue involved is not widely understood," and he is absolutely right about this. In his testimony, however, before a special labor subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, he does not really make it any better understood as a desirable piece of legislation, though he does make a good case as to why the unions naturally want to collect more dues from persons who are not now members and who, as a matter of principle, do not favor unionization.

THE SECRETARY says that "the principal issue is whether an employer and the representative of his employes are to be free to make an agreement of their own choosing." This never really has been in dispute.

If it were a mere matter of permitting unions to make agreements with employers, there would be no controversy. It's a fact that by these very agreements persons who do not want to belong to a union are compelled to do so anyway or lose their jobs.

The secretary adds:

"The real issue is whether a company and a labor union should or should not be permitted—so far as the law is concerned—to agree that all employes of the company who are represented by the union should share the expenses of maintaining the union and having it represent them in their dealings with the employer."

This is tantamount to saying that individuals should be compelled to pay the expenses of various organizations whose activities result in benefits for them.

The secretary of labor argues that all employes should share the cost of negotiating and administering collective - bargaining agreements and of the adjustment and settlement of disputes.

He describes all employes as "beneficiaries," and remarks that those workers who do not pay such expenses are called "free riders."

DO UNIONS really pay for all the expenses of collective bargaining? The employer pays a large share as he incurs heavy costs in conducting union negotiations and carrying out bargaining procedures.

No arrangement is ever made whereby the unions share the expenses of the employer arising out of bargaining negotiations. Each union undertakes the negotiations of its own initiative, and employes who do not care to belong to a union have the right—specifically affirmed by a Supreme Court decision—even to carry their individual grievances to the employer without going through the union.

All employes must, of course, abide by the terms of the agreement reached with a union as to working conditions, but they are under no obligation to pay any of the bills of either the employer or of the union. Secretary Writz further says in his testimony:

"There's no violation of freedom in a minority's having to accept the majority's fair judgment fairly arrived at."

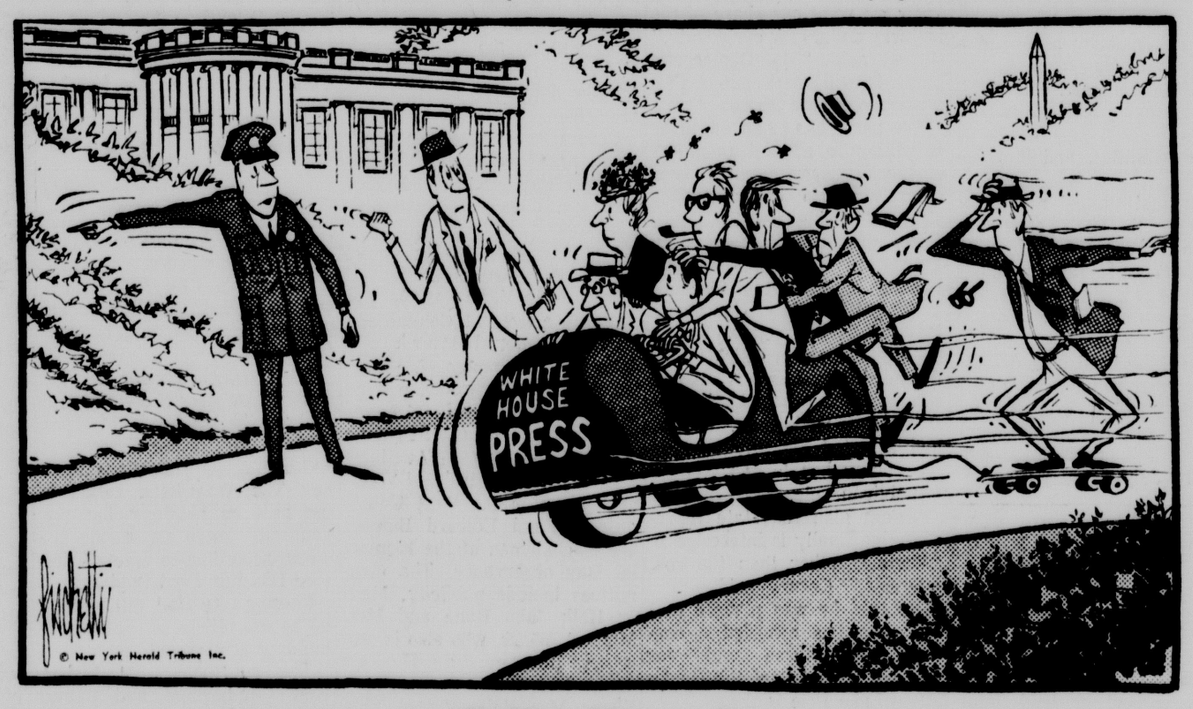
Is this true? Would all the organizations representing Negroes, for example, agree with the view that a minority has to accept a majority's judgment? Would racial demonstrations and integration of public facilities in the South have been initiated if the minority were compelled to accept the view of the majority?

IT HAS been argued that the worker really doesn't have to join a union and that all he has to do is to pay an initiation fee and tender periodic dues to the union. Mr. Wirtz says that "the employe cannot be required to attend union meetings, to accept union discipline, or to engage in union ritual" and that he is "required only to pay his way like everyone else."

Whether a member or not, a worker does have to accept "union discipline." He doesn't dare to cross a picket line in those states where right-to-work laws do not exist. In states with right-to-work laws, the employe is usually protected against coercion and violence when there is a strike.

The secretary of labor says it's all part of a private issue—that is, "whether the private parties to collective bargaining are or are not to be free to decide the union security issue as they see fit."

This same "union security issue" affects the rights of individuals in the minority as well. The right of a majority in a private organization to compel persons who do not wish to belong to a particular organization to pay dues to such a group involves a discrimination against dissenters. They must, in other words, pay a financial penalty.



'He Went Thataway!'

'It's Too Quiet, Like End Of An Age'

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON

It's too quiet. It's like the end of an age.

There's been hardly a time in the past 30 years when the world didn't have at least one loud-mouth, or an eloquent man whose syllables sounded like the footsteps of history, or one who set fear and fury afire.

In those three decades there has been only one real comedian of top stature — Nikita Khrushchev — although he was funny in a grisly way.

But now there's no one in sight to fit any of those categories except Cuba's Fidel Castro, who can shout five hours at a stretch. He's been strangely silent lately, or almost silent.

No one has ever replaced the warm, calm, sometimes cutting, sometimes indignant, sometimes outraged tones of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who used words to reassure or arouse a responsive nation.

And perhaps never again in history will anyone become so truly and completely a spokesman for the very human and earnest convictions of mankind as Sir Winston Churchill.

There's no one quite like Benito Mussolini anymore. Even though he blew up his ego with his own homemade bicycle pump until he looked like an overdressed buffoon in a tailor shop, he had to be listened to.

Since he and his Fascist party held the Italians captive and enthralled, and since he was vicious and unpredictable, he could be a menace, as he proved.

Yet even he was outdone by that animal with a mustache, Adolf Hitler.

Indians worshipped Mohandas Gandhi, not only for what he said but what he did, and they respectfully followed Prime Minister Nehru, an intellectual whose words were examined in Europe, Asia and America as well as in India.

Today in this country there is probably not more than one American out of 10 who could say offhand that the Indian replacement for Gandhi and Nehru is Prime Minister Shastri, a self-effacing little man.

President Truman was not an orator. His greatness was in his vision and his decisiveness. President Eisenhower, who inherited a troubled country in 1952, made a career as keeper of the peace, which didn't need oratory so much as patience.

President Johnson talks a lot, either to newsmen trotting around his rose garden after him or on television. But his memorable words are few. Only three come easily to mind: "The great society."

His speeches have lacked literary excellence. Sometimes, even when he is most intense, he dilutes the intensity with homely touches, like references to "my little office" or his Texas boyhood.

And even when he explained sending troops into the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam he made no appeal to national emotion for it was not his intention to arouse but to reassure, which is how Eisenhower operated.

Johnson, as a figure in history, will probably be remembered, like Truman, more for what he does, or doesn't do, than for what he says.

President Kennedy, a much more fastidious phrasemaker, might have reached great heights as a speaker if in his time the country had had to endure great and prolonged crises. But it didn't.

His speeches, particularly the most idealistic ones, like his inaugural address, were so obviously worked over they often looked self-conscious, which made them harder to absorb than Churchill's or Roosevelt's.

Those two used a simpler touch that lay closer to the skin of experience.

French President Charles de Gaulle, master of language and eloquent these past 25 years when he chose to be, hardly talks in public any more, spreading his news conferences and public addresses far apart.

The French people of today seem placid. And De Gaulle is letting them stay that way.

Khrushchev, the most bouncy, ebullient, talkative, performing world leader of these past 30 years, is stone-silent now, shoved aside last October.

His two successors — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev — are like a couple of quiet butlers in a Soveit pantry.

But in the almost 10 years he did his act on the world stage Khrushchev was watched and listened to, whether he was banging his shoe on a desk at the United Nations or acting as funeral director for capitalism when he told it: "We will bury you."

Humphrey's Conquest

By Myron Kandel

Vice - President Hubert H. Humphrey put on a bravura performance in New York City that left a hard-nosed audience of business-oriented corporate officials, financial writers and public relations men eating out of his hand.

Humphrey whose liberal views in the past had hardly won him the love of the business community, addressed the dinner of the New York Financial Writers Association and demonstrated the new approach that has made him a favorite of business audiences across the country.

He took a pallid 20-minute prepared text and through the force of personality, enthusiasm and conviction, embellished it into a 40-minute paean to the Great Society's aims and accomplishments in making the United States — in partnership with American business — a better place to live, work and prosper.

Not content with that, he flawlessly fielded a barrage of pointed questions from the floor. His responses ranged from a ringing affirmation of the administration's actions in the Dominican crisis to an assertion that he favored a thorough-going review of the nation's anti-trust laws to ease the doubts of the business community.

On balance, most businessmen probably will view Humphrey with suspicion. But his image in the eyes of many has undergone a sharp transformation from his fire - eating liberal days.

Years as part of the Senate establishment and most importantly his present service in the giant shadow of Lyndon Johnson undoubtedly have played the key roles in this change.

Humphrey is the first to admit that he's changed, conceding wryly that some of his comments on the role of government in the economy and the need for a working partnership between government and business might sound peculiar coming as they did from an old New Dealer. But times change, and people have to grow and change with them he observed.

It's no secret that before and after last summer's Democratic convention, President Johnson, Humphrey and some of their supporters engaged in a vigorous effect to "sell" the Minnesota senator to the business community. Dinners and receptions were quietly arranged to expose businessmen around the country to his winning personal charm and enable them to hear his current views on matters of interest to them.

As vice president, Humphrey has continued to speak to business groups to bring them in somewhat evangelical tones, the soothing message of the Great Society. If his latest performance was typical, he's a smashing success.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am wholeheartedly behind the Veterans City Council's attempt to raise money for a permanent memorial to the veterans of World War II and Korean conflict. I not only feel that it is a worthwhile project, but one that each and every citizen should attempt to help.

As we approach Memorial Day this year, we must be ever aware of the sacrifice both the living and dead have made to protect our country and its friends. Surely it is not too much to ask of all citizens that they erect a permanent memorial for future generations to see.

In this troubled world today, American blood is being spilled in Viet Nam and Santo Domingo. It is very little to ask of those for whom they fight that a memorial be erected in their honor.

The Civil 'Right To Work'

We see and hear much about civil rights these days.

The federal government has moved swiftly to protect the individual against discrimination and segregation for whatever reason.

And except for pockets of resistance in some southern states, these moves, designed to implement decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court, have the approval and support of the vast majority of the people of our country.

And yet at the very moment civil rights are being guaranteed to all, regardless of race, color or national origin, in the cause of human dignity, efforts are being made to deny them to a man who works for a living and does not choose to join a union.

IF THIS country stands for civil rights, which it should, we feel strongly that it should run the full course and not fall short of protecting an individual pursuing a livelihood in whatever legitimate, lawful way he prefers to do so.

But the President of the United States believes otherwise and is asking to Congress to do so, too.

He has asked the nation's lawmakers to repeal Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Act of 1947, which permits the states to pass so-called right-to-work laws.

There are currently 19 states which have such laws. They protect the civil rights of a workman against compulsory union membership as a condition of employment.

In effect, the President wants to superimpose the authority of the federal government over that of the various state governments, whose legislators presumably have expressed the will of their constituents.

If ever states' rights had any claim to legitimate stature, which it most certainly does, it is in the area of right to work.

This is not a constitutional issue, such as the right to vote and the right to equal protection under the law. The right to hold a job without joining a union is a matter for state determination and should not be made a tool for federal manipulation under pressure from organized labor.

BY A THUMPING majority several years ago, the people of Ohio rejected a right-to-work law.

This was their right, and nobody today seriously disputes the status of this issue in our state.

But what of the 19 states which still have such a law? Is it a proper function of the federal government to tell the people or the legislators in those states that they are out of bounds, that Washington will make these decisions for them?

If any of the right-to-work states want to entertain repeal they have a perfect right to do so. This is their responsibility and should not be subject to the meddling encroachments of the federal government.

Organized labor, in support of a complete national ban of right-to-work laws, aims its heavy artillery at the fact that advantages gained through negotiations are also passed along to non-union members, who thereby, as non-dues-paying employes, are getting a free ride.

WE BELIEVE THIS to be labor's strongest argument. To circumvent it, we should suggest that the law be amended to guarantee benefits of negotiations only to union members. All others then would have to qualify for higher wages and better working conditions on the basis of their individual capabilities, which is the way most of them would prefer it.

Free choice is one of the most cherished freedoms of our way of life.

When we have it, we don't properly appreciate it.

Once we lose it, it is too late to regain it.

It is then that control over our own destinies will have run its course.

A Look Into Minority Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

While President Johnson's message last week used only a few words to outline a request that Congress forbid the states to maintain any of their laws interfering with compulsory unionization, the administration, through the secretary of labor, Willard Wirtz, now has given a full explanation of its reasons for sponsoring the move.

David Lawrence

Mr. Wirtz declares that "the real issue involved is not widely understood," and he is absolutely right about this. In his testimony, however, before a special labor subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, he does not really make it any better understood as a desirable piece of legislation, though he does make a good case as to why the unions naturally want to collect more dues from persons who are not now members and who, as a matter of principle, do not favor unionization.

THE SECRETARY says that "the principal issue is whether an employer and the representative of his employes are to be free to make an agreement of their own choosing." This never really has been in dispute.

If it were a mere matter of permitting unions to make agreements with employers, there would be no controversy. It's a fact that by these very agreements persons who do not want to belong to a union are compelled to do so anyway or lose their jobs.

The secretary adds:

"The real issue is whether a company and a labor union should or should not be permitted—so far as the law is concerned—to agree that all employes of the company who are represented by the union should share the expenses of maintaining the union and having it represent them in their dealings with the employer."

This is tantamount to saying that individuals should be compelled to pay the expenses of various organizations whose activities result in benefits for them.

The secretary of labor argues that all employes should share the cost of negotiating and administering collective - bargaining agreements and of the adjustment and settlement of disputes.

He describes all employes as "beneficiaries," and remarks that those workers who do not pay such expenses are called "free riders."

DO UNIONS really pay for all the expenses of collective bargaining? The employer pays a large share as he incurs heavy costs in conducting union negotiations and carrying out bargaining procedures.

No arrangement is ever made whereby the unions share the expenses of the employer arising out of bargaining negotiations. Each union undertakes the negotiations of its own initiative, and employes who do not care to belong to a union have the right—specifically affirmed by a Supreme Court decision—even to carry their individual grievances to the employer without going through the union.

All employes must, of course, abide by the terms of the agreement reached with a union as to working conditions, but they are under no obligation to pay any of the bills of either the employer or of the union. Secretary Writz further says in his testimony:

"There's no violation of freedom in a minority's having to accept the majority's fair judgment fairly arrived at."

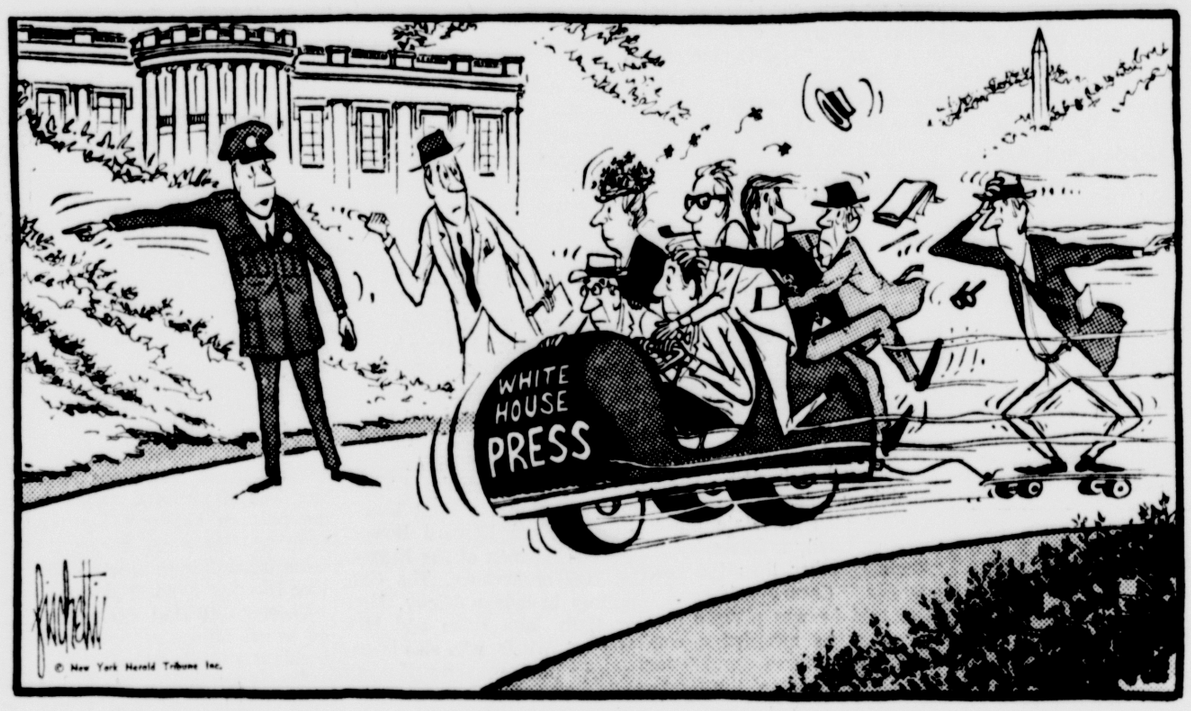
Is this true? Would all the organizations representing Negroes, for example, agree with the view that a minority has to accept a majority's judgment? Would racial demonstrations and integration of public facilities in the South have been initiated if the minority were compelled to accept the view of the majority?

IT HAS been argued that the worker really doesn't have to join a union and that all he has to do is to pay an initiation fee and tender periodic dues to the union. Mr. Wirtz says that "the employe cannot be required to attend union meetings, to accept union discipline, or to engage in union ritual" and that he is "required only to pay his way like everyone else."

Whether a member or not, a worker does have to accept "union discipline." He doesn't dare to cross a picket line in those states where right-to-work laws do not exist. In states with right-to-work laws, the employe is usually protected against coercion and violence when there is a strike.

The secretary of labor says it's all part of a private issue—that is, "whether the private parties to collective bargaining are or are not to be free to decide the union security issue as they see fit."

This same "union security issue" affects the rights of individuals in the minority as well. The right of a majority in a private organization to compel persons who do not wish to belong to a particular organization to pay dues to such a group involves a discrimination against dissenters. They must, in other words, pay a financial penalty.



'He Went Thataway!'

'It's Too Quiet, Like End Of An Age'

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON

It's too quiet. It's like the end of an age.

There's been hardly a time in the past 30 years when the world didn't have at least one loud-mouth, or an eloquent man whose syllables sounded like the footsteps of history, or one who set fear and fury afire.

In those three decades there has been only one real comedian of top stature — Nikita Khrushchev — although he was funny in a grisly way.

But now there's no one in sight to fit any of those categories except Cuba's Fidel Castro, who can shout five hours at a stretch. He's been strangely silent lately, or almost silent.

No one has ever replaced the warm, calm, sometimes cutting, sometimes indignant, sometimes outraged tones of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who used words to reassure or arouse a responsive nation.

And perhaps never again in history will anyone become so truly and completely a spokesman for the very human and earnest convictions of mankind as Sir Winston Churchill.

There's no one quite like Benito Mussolini anymore. Even though he blew up his ego with his own homemade bicycle pump until he looked like an overdressed buffoon in a tailor shop, he had to be listened to.

Since he and his Fascist party held the Italians captive and enthralled, and since he was vicious and unpredictable, he could be a menace, as he proved.

Yet even he was outdone by that animal with a mustache, Adolf Hitler.

Indians worshipped Mohandas Gandhi, not only for what he said but what he did, and they respectfully followed Prime Minister Nehru, an intellectual whose words were examined in Europe, Asia and America as well as in India.

Today in this country there is probably not more than one American out of 10 who could say offhand that the Indian replacement for Gandhi and Nehru is Prime Minister Shastri, a self-effacing little man.

It Would Be Conclusive

Southern obstructionists who have been blocking the intent of the 15th amendment since it went into effect in 1870 will not give up.

Passage of one more bill affirming that no citizen of the United States shall be denied his constitutional right to vote will not discourage them.

Give them time and they will have thought up a new list of quasi-legal shenanigans to get around the latest law, just as they and their predecessors have been doing since Reconstruction.

There always has been one recourse available to these bogus constitutionalists they never have used. It would be conclusive.

They never have proposed repeal of the Reconstruction Amendments — the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments drafted by Republicans to offset the postwar plots of Rebel legalists.

These "constitutionalists" were prepared to perpetuate slavery by subterfuge. It therefore became necessary to block them with constitutional amendments so plain they couldn't get around them.

The 13th amendment said slavery and involuntary servitude could not exist under U.S. law. The 14th amendment said all persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to U.S. law were citizens and this fact could not be changed by state laws. It guaranteed the same privileges and immunities to all U.S. citizens. The 15th amendment read: "The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

All three Reconstruction Amendments, it was specified, could be enforced by congressional enactments, which is what Congress is doing right now.

If Southern legalists who go against their oath to defend the Constitution by tirelessly trying to undermine the 14th and 15th amendments really wanted a showdown, they would propose repeal of the two amendments.

They will never do this. They do not want a showdown. They want to argue about states' rights another 100 years.

Law Follows The Fact

The Ohio Legislature is having another go-around on capital punishment, with the usual result anticipated.

After a thorough airing of the issue, nothing will be changed, as far as state law is concerned.

But in the course of numerous go-arounds there has been a substantial change in state practice.

If Ohio ever did bar capital punishment, except for certain capital crimes heinous in themselves, such as political assassinations, the legal change merely would acknowledge the fact capital punishment has gone out of fashion.

It is virtually impossible to send anyone to the electric chair, the gas chamber, the gallows, or the shooting squad in the United States.

The public has lost its appetite for capital punishment. Even in the most violent crimes of first-degree murder there is no great urge any more to send convicted murderers to their death.

Two things have contributed to this changed feeling.

One is reluctance to carry out an irrevocable sentence that might turn out to have been unjustified in the light of evidence that might turn up later.

The other is an uncomfortable circumstance of murder cases — the fact that defendants who are well-defended are not sentenced to death.

Whether capital punishment is banned or not, it is being applied so sparingly that in effect it is as good as banned now.

GOS For Short

By Truman Twill

Comes now the time to sing the praises of Good Old Summertime — GOS for short.

Everybody stand up and holler for red ants in the cupboards, oats bugs in the breakfast cereal, mildew on the furniture, snakes in the flower garden, searching fingers of zillion-volt lightning seeking something suitable for instant frying;

Silver sequins scattered on a black velvet curtain dropped over the dying light of a summer evening, fragrant roses washed with crystal dew, fragrant zephyrs hinting of hideaway bowers, morning mists swept away by an imperious sun;

Humidity and the humility of sodden clothing, mosquitoes forcing illegal entry into ears and nostrils, angry welts of ivy poisoning, midsummer lassitude, painful sunburn, misshapen females in shorts traipsing through shopping centers;

Vistas of dazzling greenery on off-the-main-highway tours, fresh strawberries, tall, tinkling glassfuls of ice-cold summer beverages, uninhibited fun in amusement parks, sun-bathing on sandy beaches, blue-water sailing;

Keeping a stiff upper lip throughout crashing thunderstorms to set a good example for trembling dogs, cursing the weeds that outgrow everything else in the vicinity, complications with lawn-mowing machinery, squalling babies and kid-ridden mothers in highway restaurants;

Quiet fishing trips on undulating lakes and sweet-flowing rivers, siestas in hammocks hung in the cool shade of apple trees, lithe youngsters playing tennis, water-skiing and diving into crystalline pools, boys and girls walking hand-in-hand under beckoning trees;

News photos of drought-ruined fields, grubs in the lawn, Japanese beetles, cockroaches under the sink;

Fields of golden grain, morning and evening symphonies of bird classics, laughter under the moon, canoes silently gliding under the sheltering arms of lake-leaning willows, cook-outs, girl-watching, gardening, freedom from heavy clothing;

The doldrums, high-speed traffic smash-ups, melting asphalt, fatalities in heat waves, 17-year locusts, aphids, flies, termites, windstorms wrenching leaf-heavy branches off trees, sudden downpours, tourists, visiting relatives, gasping-hot nights and somnolent days;

Golden recollections of other summers that have been and people who are seen no more, flowers in endless profusion, freedom to come and go without worrying about the temperature, the gratification of being part of the good earth and the solid assurance that when summer finally comes winter is far behind.

Ohio GI Given Term In Slaying Of German Girl

ANSBACH, Germany (AP)—An Ohio soldier was sentenced to 12 years in a German prison today for the murder of a 17-year-old German girl.

A German court found SP. 4. James T. Bucker, 27, of Girard, Ohio, guilty of killing Luise Margarete Regler Sept. 22, 1963.

He said she resisted his advances. He strangled the girl and then ran over her body several times with his car.

The court said it was handing down a mild sentence because Buckner did not have complete possession of his faculties when the killing occurred. A doctor testified that the soldier is subject to fainting spells and has a condition bordering on epilepsy.

As the trial ended, Buckner, in tears, asked the girl's mother who was in court, to forgive him.

Ohio GI Given Term In Slaying Of German Girl

ANSBACH, Germany (AP)—An Ohio soldier was sentenced to 12 years in a German prison today for the murder of a 17-year-old German girl.

A German court found SP. 4. James T. Bucker, 27, of Girard, Ohio, guilty of killing Luise Margarete Regler Sept. 22, 1963.

He said she resisted his advances. He strangled the girl and then ran over her body several times with his car.

The court said it was handing down a mild sentence because Buckner did not have complete possession of his faculties when the killing occurred. A doctor testified that the soldier is subject to fainting spells and has a condition bordering on epilepsy.

As the trial ended, Buckner, in tears, asked the girl's mother who was in court, to forgive him.

Marked By Riots, Lack Of Testimony

Un-American Activities Committee Ends Hearing

CHICAGO (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities has concluded three days of hearings on communism in Illinois, marked by an abundance of demonstrations and a lack of testimony.

Only two witnesses, both FBI informers, testified. Nine others pleaded constitutional protection against testifying or walked out of the hearing room.

During the final day of hearings Thursday, police and federal marshals arrested 38 demonstrators, some for singing in the hearing room, others for raising a commotion outside the building. Two demonstrators suffered head cuts trying to break through police lines.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., committee chairman, said the committee had received a rounded picture of Communist activities.

Willis said the committee had acquired additional information of Communist operations among youths and peace groups and of agitation in the housing field and in civil rights groups.

Willis said committee contempt action would be recommended against two witnesses who walked out Thursday after refusing to testify.

One of the two witnesses, Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, 45, prominent heart disease specialist, was characterized by the committee counsel as "one of those in charge of setting up the Communist party underground" in the early 1950s.

The committee counsel, Alfred M. Nittle, raised the point while questioning another witness, Laura Bough, 34, of San Francisco. She refused to answer.

When Dr. Stamler went on the witness stand, he gave his name and address, but refused further testimony.

An assistant to Dr, Stamler in the research division of the Chicago Board of Health, Yolanda Hall, also walked out after declining to answer questions.

"I am now and always have been a loyal American citizen," she said.

464,000 American Families Edge Out Of Poverty Bracket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 464,000 American families took a giant step last year. Their income edged over the $3,000 mark — and out of what the administration defines as the "poverty bracket."

At the happier end of the scale, a Census Bureau report today also showed, the number of families with incomes of $10,000 or more increased by 1.4 million.

And the median — middle — income increased too from $6,249 to $6,569. That's a 5-per cent jump from 1963 and 57-per cent from 1954. Prices also rose, though, so the increase in purchasing power was only 4 per cent.

The median income is the exact middle income for the 47.8 million American families. That is, half of them are below that level and half above.

Some 17.6 per cent of American families, or 8.4 million, had incomes below $3,000 compared to 18.5 per cent in 1963. Almost 32 per cent had incomes below $3,000 in 1954.

Some 10,800,000 families had incomes of $10,000 or more in 1964. This represented 22 per cent compared to 20 per cent in 1963 and less than 6 per cent in 1954.

More than one out of every 20 families had incomes of at least $15,000 compared to one out of 100 in 1954.

The median income of Negro families was $5,814 compared to $7,720 for whites. Thirty-seven per cent of Negro families were below the poverty line while 15.4 per cent of white families were in that category. Only 8.3 per cent of Negro families had incomes above $10,000.

The first two National League grand slam home runs were hit on successive days by Cincinnati Reds. They were hit by Tony Perez and Gordy Coleman, who alternate at first base for the Reds.

Relax Enough To Have Zest For Living

In this pressure age, tension can be the gremlin that takes the joy out of living. Literally, tension is muscular tightness.

Ida Jean Kain

Relaxation is mental and physical release.

Let us, however, take a relaxed attitude even toward tension. Paradoxically as it may seem, one man's tension can be another man's exhilaration. Mere complacency cannot bring peace of mind. Without the thrill of achievement, and the satisfaction of a job well done, life would be deadly dull. "You win the cup, you wrap it up. . . all because you gave it a go."

—:—

ON THE OTHER side of the coin, heightened zest for living and held-over tension are entirely different. Prolonged tension saps energy. Today we are not so much run-down as we are wound-up. Being in the grip of tension is like being held in a vise. Our great need is for release from emotional tensions.

It is no more helpful to say "just relax" than it is to say "don't worry." All right, make no effort to relax, simply let go with your muscles. Tightening up muscularly is a result, not a cause. Nonetheless, when you stop tensing you can ease the feeling of pressure. Try it, right where you are. Sit back in your seat, let the chair support you. Unclamp your jaw muscles. Unfurrow your brow. Smile. . .it rests your face. Stop gripping.

When you release muscle tensions you loosen your grip on worries, and this in turn eases the pressure. Physiologically, here is what takes place: Tensely contracted muscles hurry messages to your mind, and the mind relays sensations which increase muscular tensions. Thus worry, pressure and muscle tension augment each other and form the well-known vicious circle. So, an effective break in the circle is to let go with your muscles so as to release the tension.

It is well to be aware of what triggers tension for you. Recognize that when tension starts it tends to mount. Being late can bring on a sense of pressure for the tendency is to race against time. That is when you hit all red lights and try to go 40 miles an hour just sitting, stewing.

—:—

ONE WAY of releasing muscular tension is to consciously tense one set of muscles, then let go. When you contract a muscle and then deliberately release the tension, you are in control. Moreover, when you stretch and contract various muscle groups, then release, the relaxing carries on.

Don't try to relax. . .just think calm and relaxed. See yourself at ease. Muscles respond to this mental image.

What do you do in your free time? Remember the excellent rule, "let motion equal emotion." Physical exercise, provided it is not fiercely competitive, can be marvelously releasing.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Very Good Student Also A Daydreamer

Occasionally we have printed in this column a mother's account of a child whose teacher describes him as a day-dreamer at school. Often it is a child who doesn't respond to what is going on in his classroom and, as a consequence, doesn't do well the work assigned his class. The child is a learning laggard in the classroom. But, in the following letter from a mother in New York we read about the eldest of three children, a boy, six, in the first grade, who is "a straight A" student and whose written work is "letter perfect."

Dr. Garry Myers

His teacher says she sometimes calls on him three or four times to read and then he looks up as though he's been in another world. She frankly stated she becomes very annoyed and impatient with him.

"He has been a source of annoyance and impatience here at home. His slowpoke and dreamlike habits apply to just about everything he undertakes including dressing, meals, and walking to and from school.

—:—

ON HIS report card in kindergarten last year his teacher stated that he was slow at pick-up time, in spite of excellent progress. Yet at play with other children he seems just as robust as any of the other boys.

"It would appear that he just doesn't listen. On the whole he is a good child and he's liked by most everyone. His hearing has been checked and is perfect. He is very eager to learn and always has been. He constandly asks how to add this or spell that, and retains what he is told."

My reply in part:

Most mothers with a boy who achieves at school nearly as well as this boy achieves would be bragging about him. Clearly he has great powers of concentration, though he does not always concentrate on the matters at hand. His intense attention to something going on in his head may help explain his dawdling and slowpoke ways.

—:—

OBVIOUSLY he concentrates at school well enough to excel at learning there. But he annoys his teacher and you parents when he does not quickly respond if asked or told to do something. He annoys his teacher and you in often being slow at doing what he is supposed to do with his feet and hands.

Perhaps at school he is the last one to be in his seat after changing from one place or activity to another. Yet in the light of all his other excellent achievement there, why should you be so annoyed at him?

See what strengths in him you have to build on at home. No doubt you parents constantly nag at him to hurry and are so often vexed at his pokiness that you seldom enjoy him or express pleasure over his hundreds of good ways and acts. Therefore, how little he may enjoy you his parents.

Being the object of your vexation so constantly, he must suppose he is not loved by you as much as his sisters are. This supposition could cause him to daydream more and to grow more pokey.

—:—

IT MIGHT prove almost miraculous if you parents resolved to quit telling him to hurry. If, instead, you should let him collect a penny or a nickel from you each time you said "hurry."

Suppose you aimed to encourage him to engage in what you are saying or doing in the family. He would become more actively alert in your presence and thus have less practice at daydreaming.

It's possible he is physically constituted as a slower mover than most children. This you might check while he is playing actively with other boys.

My guess is that you parents have in this boy a very superior person and that you are going to find ways to help him and yourselves escape mutual vexation and gain more and more mutual enjoyments. Who wouldn't want to have a boy as promising as he is?

My bulletins, "Enjoying Our Children," "The Slowpoke," "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy," "Celebrate Your Child's Successes," and "The Child Who Doesn't Concentrate," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Very Good Student Also A Daydreamer

Occasionally we have printed in this column a mother's account of a child whose teacher describes him as a day-dreamer at school. Often it is a child who doesn't respond to what is going on in his classroom and, as a consequence, doesn't do well the work assigned his class. The child is a learning laggard in the classroom. But, in the following letter from a mother in New York we read about the eldest of three children, a boy, six, in the first grade, who is "a straight A" student and whose written work is "letter perfect."

Dr. Garry Myers

His teacher says she sometimes calls on him three or four times to read and then he looks up as though he's been in another world. She frankly stated she becomes very annoyed and impatient with him.

"He has been a source of annoyance and impatience here at home. His slowpoke and dreamlike habits apply to just about everything he undertakes including dressing, meals, and walking to and from school.

—:—

ON HIS report card in kindergarten last year his teacher stated that he was slow at pick-up time, in spite of excellent progress. Yet at play with other children he seems just as robust as any of the other boys.

"It would appear that he just doesn't listen. On the whole he is a good child and he's liked by most everyone. His hearing has been checked and is perfect. He is very eager to learn and always has been. He constandly asks how to add this or spell that, and retains what he is told."

My reply in part:

Most mothers with a boy who achieves at school nearly as well as this boy achieves would be bragging about him. Clearly he has great powers of concentration, though he does not always concentrate on the matters at hand. His intense attention to something going on in his head may help explain his dawdling and slowpoke ways.

—:—

OBVIOUSLY he concentrates at school well enough to excel at learning there. But he annoys his teacher and you parents when he does not quickly respond if asked or told to do something. He annoys his teacher and you in often being slow at doing what he is supposed to do with his feet and hands.

Perhaps at school he is the last one to be in his seat after changing from one place or activity to another. Yet in the light of all his other excellent achievement there, why should you be so annoyed at him?

See what strengths in him you have to build on at home. No doubt you parents constantly nag at him to hurry and are so often vexed at his pokiness that you seldom enjoy him or express pleasure over his hundreds of good ways and acts. Therefore, how little he may enjoy you his parents.

Being the object of your vexation so constantly, he must suppose he is not loved by you as much as his sisters are. This supposition could cause him to daydream more and to grow more pokey.

—:—

IT MIGHT prove almost miraculous if you parents resolved to quit telling him to hurry. If, instead, you should let him collect a penny or a nickel from you each time you said "hurry."

Suppose you aimed to encourage him to engage in what you are saying or doing in the family. He would become more actively alert in your presence and thus have less practice at daydreaming.

It's possible he is physically constituted as a slower mover than most children. This you might check while he is playing actively with other boys.

My guess is that you parents have in this boy a very superior person and that you are going to find ways to help him and yourselves escape mutual vexation and gain more and more mutual enjoyments. Who wouldn't want to have a boy as promising as he is?

My bulletins, "Enjoying Our Children," "The Slowpoke," "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy," "Celebrate Your Child's Successes," and "The Child Who Doesn't Concentrate," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Q. Is high blood pressure due to excess blood in the body?

A. No. High blood pressure is a condition related to blood vessels — not blood itself. The amount or volume of fluid in the circulatory system is not a major consideration in blood pressure. Measurement of the blood volume in persons with high blood pressure yield consistently normal values.

FLUORIDE-VITAMIN SUPPLEMENTS

Q. I have been giving vitamin drops to my children. Since fluoride prevents cavities would it be best to switch to a fluoride-vitamin product?

A. Fluoride-vitamin preparations may be considered when the local water supply contains less fluoride than is considered adequate. However, consult your doctor or dentist before using a fluoride-vitamin preparation. Proper fluoride dosage requires consideration of the child's age and the amount of fluoride the child will receive from the drinking water.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon charged Blanche Ravelli of the Y. & O. Rd. with leaving the scene of an accident and failure to yield the right of way after the mishap at 8:20.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Q. Is high blood pressure due to excess blood in the body?

A. No. High blood pressure is a condition related to blood vessels — not blood itself. The amount or volume of fluid in the circulatory system is not a major consideration in blood pressure. Measurement of the blood volume in persons with high blood pressure yield consistently normal values.

FLUORIDE-VITAMIN SUPPLEMENTS

Q. I have been giving vitamin drops to my children. Since fluoride prevents cavities would it be best to switch to a fluoride-vitamin product?

A. Fluoride-vitamin preparations may be considered when the local water supply contains less fluoride than is considered adequate. However, consult your doctor or dentist before using a fluoride-vitamin preparation. Proper fluoride dosage requires consideration of the child's age and the amount of fluoride the child will receive from the drinking water.

2 Diehard Guerrillas Killed, 2 Viet Bridges Reopened

By HAL BOYLE

LE MY, South Viet Nam (AP) — Fifty yards from the hand-laid rock road some natives were digging graves.

On the edge of the road on straw mats lay those for whom the graves were being dug. They were the bodies of the last two diehard guerrillas in the village of Le My.

"After they wounded one of our men yesterday" explained a U.S. Marine laconically "we cornered them in a house. They hid under a trapdoor. One of our fellows tossed in a grenade—and that did it."

Some 300 yards up the highways was the mobile jeep headquarters of one of the best-liked men on the battlefront here—Lt. Col. David A. Clement, 40, Jacksonville, Fla., commander of the 2nd Battalion of the U.S. 3rd Marine Regiment.

It was an hour of sweet victory for Clement and his men.

They had just completed a simple but colorful ceremony with local village officials during which they had reopened to traffic two bridges blown up by the Viet Cong.

The burying of the two slain enemy and the reopening of the repaired bridges doubly demonstrated that the key village of Le My had been made secure.

To Lt. Col. Clement, nicknamed "The Great Pacificator," it meant the solution of his biggest problem since he and his 1,000 men landed here early in April. The pacification of the area around the vital Da Nang air base had been a key task assigned to the U.S. Marines.

The Marines suffered a number of casualties in the village. It would have been easy for them to have razed it but this isn't that kind of a war.

The village finally was cleared by a delicate program of grenades for the enemy and good will gestures toward the general population.

Clement, a raw-boned man who weighs 200 pounds and stands three inches over six feet, is a 1945 Annapolis graduate who won a Silver Star as a company commander in Korea. He has six children ranging in age from 18 down to 6.

He was born with a Marine brand on him. His father was the late famed three-star Marine Gen. William T. Clement, one of the most popular officers the corps ever produced.

In six weeks here, Col. Clement's battalion has worked through a 48-square-mile area.

"Some of it is still hostile and we are still conducting operations," he said. "Our most tangible success has been in this village of Le My and we will soon have it operating normally."

Rights Groups' Efforts To Oust School Head Fail

CHICAGO (AP) — Efforts by civil rights groups to force the ouster of Dr. Benjamin C. Willis as superintendent of Chicago's public schools have ended in failure.

The Board of Education voted 7-4 Thursday to rehire him until his 65th birthday — on Dec. 23, 1966.

The board — under pressure from groups both favoring and opposing Willis — made its decision during a five-hour closed meeting. Willis was present for the final two hours. He will continue to receive $48,500 a year under the contract, effective Sept. 1.

There had been published reports that the board had decided informally not to renew Willis' contract. Civil rights groups had accused him of failing to foster school integration.

Tax Evasion Trial Ending First Week

CLEVELAND (AP)—The trial of the three DeNiro brothers on charges they conspired to evade payment of federal taxes on the estate of a fourth brother, Vincent, rounds out its first week today with the prosecution still presenting its case.

Vince, a Youngstown racket figure, was killed in an automobile bombing July 17, 1961, in Youngstown. Government attorneys are trying to prove he left a taxable estate of $391,627, but his brothers claim he left nothing — that he worked for their National Cigarette Service Co. of Youngstown as an employe and did not share ownership.

2 Diehard Guerrillas Killed, 2 Viet Bridges Reopened

By HAL BOYLE

LE MY, South Viet Nam (AP) — Fifty yards from the hand-laid rock road some natives were digging graves.

On the edge of the road on straw mats lay those for whom the graves were being dug. They were the bodies of the last two diehard guerrillas in the village of Le My.

"After they wounded one of our men yesterday" explained a U.S. Marine laconically "we cornered them in a house. They hid under a trapdoor. One of our fellows tossed in a grenade—and that did it."

Some 300 yards up the highways was the mobile jeep headquarters of one of the best-liked men on the battlefront here—Lt. Col. David A. Clement, 40, Jacksonville, Fla., commander of the 2nd Battalion of the U.S. 3rd Marine Regiment.

It was an hour of sweet victory for Clement and his men.

They had just completed a simple but colorful ceremony with local village officials during which they had reopened to traffic two bridges blown up by the Viet Cong.

The burying of the two slain enemy and the reopening of the repaired bridges doubly demonstrated that the key village of Le My had been made secure.

To Lt. Col. Clement, nicknamed "The Great Pacificator," it meant the solution of his biggest problem since he and his 1,000 men landed here early in April. The pacification of the area around the vital Da Nang air base had been a key task assigned to the U.S. Marines.

The Marines suffered a number of casualties in the village. It would have been easy for them to have razed it but this isn't that kind of a war.

The village finally was cleared by a delicate program of grenades for the enemy and good will gestures toward the general population.

Clement, a raw-boned man who weighs 200 pounds and stands three inches over six feet, is a 1945 Annapolis graduate who won a Silver Star as a company commander in Korea. He has six children ranging in age from 18 down to 6.

He was born with a Marine brand on him. His father was the late famed three-star Marine Gen. William T. Clement, one of the most popular officers the corps ever produced.

In six weeks here, Col. Clement's battalion has worked through a 48-square-mile area.

"Some of it is still hostile and we are still conducting operations," he said. "Our most tangible success has been in this village of Le My and we will soon have it operating normally."

Rights Groups' Efforts To Oust School Head Fail

CHICAGO (AP) — Efforts by civil rights groups to force the ouster of Dr. Benjamin C. Willis as superintendent of Chicago's public schools have ended in failure.

The Board of Education voted 7-4 Thursday to rehire him until his 65th birthday — on Dec. 23, 1966.

The board — under pressure from groups both favoring and opposing Willis — made its decision during a five-hour closed meeting. Willis was present for the final two hours. He will continue to receive $48,500 a year under the contract, effective Sept. 1.

There had been published reports that the board had decided informally not to renew Willis' contract. Civil rights groups had accused him of failing to foster school integration.

Government attorneys are trying to prove he left a taxable estate of $391,627, but his brothers claim he left nothing — that he worked for their National Cigarette Service Co. of Youngstown as an employe and did not share ownership.

New Police Cruisers Placed In City Service

Two new cruisers were placed in service officially by the police department Thursday.

They are 1965 model Chevrolet V-8 four - door sedans which the Board of Control purchased from Mike Turk, Inc., under competitive bidding. The new cruisers replace a 1963 Chevrolet sedan and a 1964 Plymouth sedan which have been taken out of police service.

Chief Americo J. Radeschi said arrival of the two new cars means that the department now has three cruisers available for full-time service. In addition to the 1965 models, the department uses a 1964 Chevrolet sedan. The cruisers each average 75,000 to 80,000 miles annually.

Minor Damage Listed In Downtown Mishap

Minor damage was reported in a collision of two cars Thursday at 7:02 p.m. at W. 5th and Jackson Sts., police said.

The crash involved a 1963 sedan driven by Nelda Fluharty, 58, of 432 Morton St. and a 1961 four-door sedan operated by Edward F. Runosky, 44, of Youngstown. It damaged the left rear fender of the woman's auto and scratched chrome on the right front fender of the man's car.

Police said each blamed the other for the collision as the cars moved west on W. 5th St. in parallel lanes. The woman said Runosky cut in front of her car. Runosky said the woman "weaved over" and hit his auto.

Men With Critical Skills

Pentagon Proposes Bonus As Lure For Re-Enlisting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is proposing a special bonus to lure men with critical skills into re-enlisting in the armed services.

The bonus system, recommended to Congress in a little-noticed section of a pay-increase bill, could give some corporals and specialists as much as $6,300, depending on the importance of their skills.

Two years ago, Congress ignored a similar Defense Department proposal.

However, top officials hope the Senate and House will be more receptive this time because of the increasing difficulty in holding trained men.

The plight of the Navy was pointed up several weeks ago when Secretary Paul H. Nitze appealed to officers and men whose active-duty tours were running out to extend their service three or six months. Navy officials said it is too early to measure the response to Nitze's plea.

Defense Department studies have listed inadequate pay as a major factor in the inability to keep men trained in electronics and other important skills.

The Defense Department already has a re-enlistment bonus system in effect. The new special system aimed at the highly skilled would be superimposed on it.

Under the standard system, a man completing his first enlistment and signing up for another hitch is entitled to one month's pay multiplied by the number of years of re-enlistment.

Thus, a man who signed up for an additional six-year hitch would get a bonus of six months' pay.

On later enlistments, the bonus would be smaller. An absolute limit of $2,000 is applied to such standard bonuses over a 20-year career.

The new proposal would apply only to the first re-enlistment.

It would authorize a bonus four times the standard re-enlistment bonus, in addition to the regular bonus.

In this case, a man with an important skill would get a payment equal to five months' pay multiplied by the number of years of his new enlistment — a maximum of 30 extra months' pay.

She Reigns As 'Miss Poppy' At Wellsville

Miss Ann Beresford is shown being crowned "Miss Poppy of 1965" by Miss Kathy O'Hara, chairman of the Junior Auxiliary of Wellsville American Legion Post 70.

Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beresford, 1790 Chester Ave., was winner of a contest conducted by the Auxiliary to mark the annual Poppy Day sale Saturday.

"Wear a poppy to show that you remember" is the theme of the appeal to be made Saturday.

Mrs. Betty Maylone is the Auxiliary president. She said "Some of the finest young men of our city gave their lives in the defense of America during the three wars the past half century. We should not lose the inspiration of their service and sacrifice, but should keep their memory bright."

The poppies are made by disabled war veterans in hospitals and workrooms throughout the country. The funds go toward the care of veterans and children.

Flood Hospital With Patients

Doctors, Interns Stage 'Heal In' In Pay Dispute

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A county official says resident physicians and interns at Los Angeles County General Hospital, miffed by a pay raise of less than $10 a month, are flooding the huge facility with patients.

He says the doctors are calling it a "heal in."

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said the protest was described to his office Thursday, called it "a deliberate plan to disrupt good hospital service."

Hahn said the strategy among the 200 interns and 350 physicians was to admit as many patients as possible, and at the same time, retain patients longer than normally would be the case.

Dr. Richard Boggs, president of the intern-resident protest group, declined to discuss the situation with newsmen.

Hospital administrators said there was a 25 per cent increase in admissions Thursday and a 40 per cent drop in discharges. But county officials said steps were being taken by administrative officials to forestall the effort. They termed the campaign "curbed."

Hahn said a delegation from the Interns and Residents Association visited his office and announced that a "heal in" was in progress.

The 3,300-bed facility is one of the largest general hospitals in the nation.

Dr. William Evans, the hospital's medical director, said the protest group promised "that nothing will be done which interferes with the best care available to patients."

The doctors had asked for a flat rate of $400 monthly for interns and a sliding scale for resident physicians rising over a five-year period from $510 to $713 a month.

3 Youths Held In Cleveland For Fatal Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three youths were arrested early today by Cuyahoga County sheriff's deputies in the fatal shooting of 20-year-old Raymond Baltnik on the East Side.

Blatnik was killed Thursday night on the street near his home, apparently after an argument over some auto parts.

A neighbor told police Blatnik argued with three youths in a car for a few minutes, then the car drove off and returned shortly to the same spot. One of the occupants fired at Blatnik from the car, police were told.

William Lynch, chief jailer in the sheriff's office, identified the youths as Joseph Donato, 21, his brother, Ronald, 18, and Roger Iiron, 17. All were booked on an investigation charge.

Lynch said the youths turned themselves in voluntarily and were waiting for Lynch and deputy Larry Doran when they arrived at a parking lot in suburban Parma.

Two years ago, Congress ignored a similar Defense Department proposal.

However, top officials hope the Senate and House will be more receptive this time because of the increasing difficulty in holding trained men.

The plight of the Navy was pointed up several weeks ago when Secretary Paul H. Nitze appealed to officers and men whose active-duty tours were running out to extend their service three or six months. Navy officials said it is too early to measure the response to Nitze's plea.

Defense Department studies have listed inadequate pay as a major factor in the inability to keep men trained in electronics and other important skills.

The Defense Department already has a re-enlistment bonus system in effect. The new special system aimed at the highly skilled would be superimposed on it.

Under the standard system, a man completing his first enlistment and signing up for another hitch is entitled to one month's pay multiplied by the number of years of re-enlistment.

Thus, a man who signed up for an additional six-year hitch would get a bonus of six months' pay.

On later enlistments, the bonus would be smaller. An absolute limit of $2,000 is applied to such standard bonuses over a 20-year career.

The new proposal would apply only to the first re-enlistment.

It would authorize a bonus four times the standard re-enlistment bonus, in addition to the regular bonus.

In this case, a man with an important skill would get a payment equal to five months' pay multiplied by the number of years of his new enlistment — a maximum of 30 extra months' pay.

Youth, 15, Injured In Fall; Hospital Treats 12 Others

A 15-year-old youth who fell through a skylight at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital, where 12 other district residents were treated Thursday after separate mishaps.

Dwain Duck, son of Mrs. Marie Duck of Maine Blvd., suffered multiple lacerations of the arms in the fall through the glass 16 feet to the floor of a Sunday School wing below.

A number of men of the church were at work repairing the skylights on the Maine Blvd. church, and the youth apparently climbed onto the roof to assist them.

James Hunter, 14, son of James Hunter of 708 Washington Ave., Wellsville, received a cut on the leg while playing baseball.

Bernard Kozora of 1672 Etruria St., an employe of the H. K. Porter Co., suffered lacerations of the legs when bricks fell against him while at work.

Shelton Fife of Chester R. D. 1 received bruises and possible fractured ribs when struck by part of the drilling rig at a well site. He is an employe of the Delta Drilling Co.

Clarence Gatchell of Dodge St., an employe of the Berman Iron & Steel Co., was treated for cuts to the fingers suffered on a piece of steel.

While at work for the Ohio Power Co., Daniel Copestick, of the Old Irondale Rd. near Wellsville, received an eye injury when hot insulation from a wire fell on his face.

Ty Cain, year-old son of David Cain of 235 W. 3rd St., was treated for head bruises and abrasions after he fell down steps at home.

Kimberly Collins, 4, daughter of Walter Collins of 500 Jefferson St., Newell, suffered a cut foot when her bicycle ran against another.

In a fall from a tree at home, Robert Smith, 7, son of Richard Smith of Myler Park, received a fractured left arm.

David Strum, 10, son of Willis Strum of near Newell, jumped from a porch and suffered a sprained right foot.

While playing ball at school, Larry Paynter, 17, son of Raymond Paynter of 624 Oak St., received a severe contusion of the left foot.

Elizabeth Sanders of Irondale R. D. 1 was treated for a sprained ankle after a fall at home.

William Wooley, 23, of 210 Virginia Ave., Chester, received injuries to the right leg when brushed by a truck at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. pottery.

She Reigns As 'Miss Poppy' At Wellsville

Miss Ann Beresford is shown being crowned "Miss Poppy of 1965" by Miss Kathy O'Hara, chairman of the Junior Auxiliary of Wellsville American Legion Post 70.

Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beresford, 1790 Chester Ave., was winner of a contest conducted by the Auxiliary to mark the annual Poppy Day sale Saturday.

"Wear a poppy to show that you remember" is the theme of the appeal to be made Saturday.

Mrs. Betty Maylone is the Auxiliary president. She said "Some of the finest young men of our city gave their lives in the defense of America during the three wars the past half century. We should not lose the inspiration of their service and sacrifice, but should keep their memory bright."

The poppies are made by disabled war veterans in hospitals and workrooms throughout the country. The funds go toward the care of veterans and children.

Flood Hospital With Patients

Doctors, Interns Stage 'Heal In' In Pay Dispute

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A county official says resident physicians and interns at Los Angeles County General Hospital, miffed by a pay raise of less than $10 a month, are flooding the huge facility with patients.

He says the doctors are calling it a "heal in."

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said the protest was described to his office Thursday, called it "a deliberate plan to disrupt good hospital service."

Hahn said the strategy among the 200 interns and 350 physicians was to admit as many patients as possible, and at the same time, retain patients longer than normally would be the case.

Dr. Richard Boggs, president of the intern-resident protest group, declined to discuss the situation with newsmen.

Hospital administrators said there was a 25 per cent increase in admissions Thursday and a 40 per cent drop in discharges. But county officials said steps were being taken by administrative officials to forestall the effort. They termed the campaign "curbed."

Hahn said a delegation from the Interns and Residents Association visited his office and announced that a "heal in" was in progress.

The 3,300-bed facility is one of the largest general hospitals in the nation.

Dr. William Evans, the hospital's medical director, said the protest group promised "that nothing will be done which interferes with the best care available to patients."

The doctors had asked for a flat rate of $400 monthly for interns and a sliding scale for resident physicians rising over a five-year period from $510 to $713 a month.

3 Youths Held In Cleveland For Fatal Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three youths were arrested early today by Cuyahoga County sheriff's deputies in the fatal shooting of 20-year-old Raymond Baltnik on the East Side.

Blatnik was killed Thursday night on the street near his home, apparently after an argument over some auto parts.

A neighbor told police Blatnik argued with three youths in a car for a few minutes, then the car drove off and returned shortly to the same spot. One of the occupants fired at Blatnik from the car, police were told.

William Lynch, chief jailer in the sheriff's office, identified the youths as Joseph Donato, 21, his brother, Ronald, 18, and Roger Iiron, 17. All were booked on an investigation charge.

Lynch said the youths turned themselves in voluntarily and were waiting for Lynch and deputy Larry Doran when they arrived at a parking lot in suburban Parma.

More TV Tests Needed

Now that nearly half the nation has failed CBS-TV's drivers test, it seems only fair for the network to give us a chance to save face in some other categories. Maybe we don't drive too carefully, but there's hardly a one of us who doesn't know what to do about South Viet Nam and Santo Domingo.

Hal Humphrey

C'mon, CBS, pass the test papers. Let Walter Cronkite and Mike Wallace prepare some true-or-false questions about the commercials we see on their network. How many shaves can a man really get from a "toot-toot" blade? Do Lauren Bacall and Jason Robards drink instant coffee for pleasure or for money?

-:-

IF CBS and an oil company sponsor can afford to print and distribute 60 million driver's test forms, why can't the three major networks do the same thing next fall to test their new shows?

Instead of relying on A. C. Nielsen and his picayune sample of 1,100 little meters on TV sets, let the networks put out sheets listing their prime-time shows, say around next November.

Under "Like" and "Don't Watch" headings, the viewers vote their choice. It's just as scientific as taking the word of Nielsen and those preconditioned guinea pig viewers with the little meters.

-:-

FOR THAT MATTER, the driver's test CBS and the National Safety Council prepared wasn't the genuine test of skill it was purported to be.

Pure reason and logic enabled many viewers to come up with good scores. Yet their physical coordination (or lack of it) could make it impossible for them to put such knowledge into effect soon enough to do them any good.

CBS got a special Arbitron rating which showed that 26 million viewers saw its driver's test show and that it racked up a 28.2 rating compared to NBC's 9.1 for Hitchcock and ABC's 8.5 with Ben Casey, which were both repeats.

"It is the highest audience rating received this year for an information show," says a CBS official.

-:-

UNFORTUNATELY, none of the networks ever put the promotion muscle behind information programs which CBS happened to muster for its national drivers test last Monday.

The National Safety Council's president wound up on "To Tell the Truth" the night of the program. In Los Angeles a judge was persuaded to sentence one day's crop of traffic violators to watch the CBS program.

As mentioned previously, 60 million test forms were distributed by service stations of the company which sponsored the program.

Just half as much promotion effort, if put behind other information or documentary-type programs, might easily result in higher ratings for them, too.

-:-

OF COURSE, the real rating test for CBS' program will be this three-day Memorial Day weekend. If the National Safety Council's projected figure of 450 highway fatalities is reached or surpassed, then we'll have to assume that the test didn't put us on our mettle.

CBS statisticians (if they're worth their salt) will be able to prove that many of the 26 million watching its program either canceled their plans to drive anywhere, or got killed by some bum who flunked the test.

On the other hand, the Memorial Day traffic deaths may fall below NSC estimates, in which case CBS logically can take some measure of credit, since it did supposedly make some 26 million Americans aware of their driving faults.

Either that, or as George Gobel said on TV following a Memorial Day weekend several years ago when car accidents fell below the estimate, "Some of you just weren't trying."

Voting Board Asks Data On Issues In Fall

Subdivisions intending to submit special questions or issues in the general election this fall should advise the County Election Board as soon as possible so that the data can be taken into account when computing ballot requirements, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said today.

Notices will be sent to city, village, township and school district officials explaining that the board will begin work soon on drafting the ballot requirements for the Nov. 2 election, expecting it will award a contract for the printing at a meeting on Monday, Aug. 9, O'Hanlon said.

Shortly after awarding the contract, the board will begin preparation of copy for the successful bidder.

The board must have absentee ballots available by Sept. 3 for service personnel and their dependents and civilians residing temporarily outside the United States, he explained. Issuance of civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots will begin on Oct. 3.

He pointed out there always is a heavy influx of proposed bond issues and tax levies at the general election.

Meanwhile, Salem school authorities queried the board Thursday about the possibility of holding a special election for resubmission of a levy for teachers' salary increases which was rejected May 4. The Election Board referred the school authorities to their legal advisers, but pointed out it believes a second special election cannot be held in 1965 on the same issue.

The vote on May 4 amounted to a special election held on the same date as the party primaries. State law does not allow two special elections in the same year on the same issue.

But O'Hanlon said he can see no bar to submitting the teachers' salary levy again at the November general election. The deadline for filing would be Sept. 15 under the Ohio Uniform Tax Law.

Lady Legislators Express Feelings On Landscaping

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two lady legislators are unhappy with landscaping of the Statehouse yard above the new underground parking garage, and made their feelings known in statements in the House Thursday.

"It is a mess and a disgrace to the state," said Rep. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-Montgomery. "They (planted trees) should be removed."

Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Star, said she "wouldn't put such piddling trees in my own yard at home."

Their observations came during House debate on a proposal to create a board of examiners for determining qualifications of professionals who hold themselves out as "landscape architects" in the state.

The bill passed, 96-17, and went on to the Senate.

Comedian Mort Sahl To Undergo Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Mort Sahl has been admitted to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where he was to undergo surgery of the larynx for removal of a growth, doctors said.

Sahl, 38, entered the hospital Thursday, and removal of a papilloma was planned today. He insisted the papilloma and the operation were not serious.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: We made a rock garden, and instead of planting grass (which just has to be cut), we used washed, tiny pebbles to cover the earth.

Now our problem is weeding. I hate to pour weed killers over the stones as we have children and pets. Any suggestions?

PHILIP BLUMENTHAUL.

DEAR SIR: You are right as rain about not pouring weed killers over the pebbles. It's poison, you know.

The only real solution I know of that is safe is to rake up all the pebbles (work, I know, but it has to be done), and put tar paper over the earth, then replace the pebbles. The weeds will not grow through the tar paper.

This method will pay off in the long run, because instead of the pebbles sinking into the good earth, and you having to buy more each year (especially if you walk on them), they will remain on the surface. Thus, no case of the disappearing pebbles and a need for Sherlock Holmes and more money!

In case you want to plant a shrub in among the rocks, just cut a hole through the tar paper to fit the ball of roots. If you will put a layer of rocks over this, not only will it look nice but will help keep the moisture in the ground after watering.

Happy gardening,
HELOISE.

Sometimes we do get too much plastic starch in a white cotton or linen fabric. Washing with hot suds and water won't remove it.

If this does happen, try rubbing alcohol diluted (if necessary) with four parts water to be sure it's safe for your particular fabric. This usually removes the excess stiffiness.

Spot test first.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: If I run short of regular milk and want to make up some non-fat dry milk, I open an empty, regular milk carton top as wide as possible, measure the amount of powdered milk wanted, pour it into the carton, and stir in the necessary amount of water.

Then, using my daughter's small staple machine, I staple the top back together, leaving the pouring spout open.

This may be a bit sneaky, but my children drink the milk substitute better when it is served from the familiar carton than if I put it in a pitcher.

Early History Of City Aired In Talk Before Kiwanis Club

The quiet, dusty paths of Fawcettstown, later to become East Liverpool, were recreated in a talk about the early community by the great - great - great-great grandson of the city's founder at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Atty. Robert Kapp of East Liverpool described the early history of the community, which developed from a 1798 purchase of land by Thomas Fawcett, a Quaker who immigrated from Ireland to the Pittsburgh area.

Fawcett, who came here when he was 51, built a home on the heights overlooking the present Patterson Field, Kapp said.

The pioneer laid out plats for a village which he named St. Clair, but which everybody called Fawcettstown after the founder. However, the easy-mannered Fawcett was unable to spur growth of the new town which stagnated for three decades until the pottery industry began.

The name Liverpool came into use in 1816 when Fawcett's son John returned from Wheeling, where he was in partnership in a store, and with Daniel Moore, a partner, and James Pemberton, another merchant, purchased land from his father, planning to develop the town and establish a glass mill. They referred to the town as Liverpool. However the plan failed.

Kapp related tales of some of the early inhabitants of the town, how Liverpool lost out on becoming the Columbiana County seat and on serving as the terminus of a road from Cleveland to the Ohio River. A railroad project also failed because of a financial panic in 1837.

Kapp displayed the will of Fawcett, a crumbling manuscript which the aged founder signed the year he died, 1821.

The speaker was introduced by Roy Cooper, program chairman.

Prizes were awarded to the winning team and ticket salesmen in the club's public pancake supper May 15.

Alex Kidd, president, was in charge.

Youth Center Opened To Help Unemployed

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Youth Opportunity Center was opened here Thursday as part of the nationwide war on poverty program to help unemployed youths.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and Harry Kranz of Washington, national director of Youth Center Operations, participated in the ceremonies.

Rhodes said Ohio has 1,000 young persons entering the labor market each week, and added "we don't want any young man or woman, regardless of race, color or creed, standing on a street corner, saying they can't work because they have no training."

Living Costs Took Jump During April

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose three - tenths of one per cent in April, the biggest monthly jump since last July, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

Increases in the cost of food, clothing, transportation and medical care boosted the consumer price index to 109.3, a new high.

This figure means that in April it cost $10.93 to purchase typical goods that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

The increase was the largest for an April since 1960.

Asked if the rise was unusual, Deputy Asst. Commissioner Sidney A. Jaffe of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said:

"It's a little out of balance, but not tremendously."

Led by price rises in fresh fruits an vegetables, the index of food prices equaled the all-time peak of 107.3 set in September, 1964. This was an increase of four - tenths of one per cent over March.

Average weekly earnings of factory workers dropped about $1.25 in April because of a cutback in overtime work. But average hourly earnings of $2.60 remained at an all - time high for the second straight month.

Averages weekly after-tax earnings of a factory worker with three dependents were $95.12 and for a worker without dependents $87.50.

Because of the drop in earnings and the rise in prices, factory workers' purchasing power dropped about 1.5 per cent.

Jaffe said there was no evidence that a Labor Department program to replace Mexican workers with U.S. workers in farm harvesting had any effect on the increase in food prices.

The April consumer price index was 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago.

The bureau has said in the past that a yearly price rise of 1.2 per cent was within noninflationary bounds.

Asked whether the April rise indicated a possible inflationary trend, Jaffe said:

"I wouldn't place too much significance on any one month. We'll have to see what happens the rest of the year."

He said much of the April rise was in food and gasoline, which he described as "highly volatile" commodities in which price gains could be reversed quickly and easily.

New School Bus Measure Offered In Ohio Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Holdouts for controversial school bus legislation have attempted to rekindle the smouldering issue in the Ohio General Assembly.

They introduced a new bill Thursday but it went almost unnoticed in a touchy Senate wrangle over merits of a constitutional resolution to ban Communists from holding public office.

Senators finally brushed the resolution aside in a 10-16 vote.

Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-Hancock, and four other senators offered the school bus proposal, sixth of the session designed to extend bus transportation to pupils of private and church-affiliated schools.

They said their measure represents a compromise to remove opposition claims that the state cannot legally provide such service to nonpublic schools.

Under provisions of the bill, a Division of Transportation would be created in the Highway Safety Department to "provide safe transportation to students attending elementary and high schools in Ohio."

Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, led the floor fight against the proposed amendment on communism, asserting "it is foolish and meaningless and a waste of taxpayers' money to put it on the statewide ballot."

Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, sponsored the proposal.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, quelled what might have erupted into a hostile exchange between King and Guyer.

Guyer, supporting the proposal, brought King to his feet when he asserted: "A vote against this resolution, in my opinion, would be counted as a vote in favor of Communists holding office."

"The same old game of McCarthyism," King retorted.

At that point, Gray reminded senators that the issue was not partisan and assured Democrats "No one in the majority party questions the loyalty of anyone in this chamber."

Gray then joined with two other Republicans, Sens. Charles W. Whalen Jr., and Robert E. Stockdale, and 13 Democrats to defeat the proposal.

In other business, the Senate passed four comparatively minor bills. They included proposals to ban noisy mufflers and establish marketing rights for agricultural associations and their members.

Among bills introduced in the Senate was a proposal to reapportion the State Senate and an emergency bill by Sen. Charles L. Pancake, D-Athens, to appropriate $69,000 for construction of Northwestern Ohio.

At the same time, the House completed passage of a Senate bill designed to attract migrant labor to Ohio. It would authorize farm trucks with out-of-state licenses to obtain a $20 Ohio license good for 100 days.

The House postponed action on a bill requiring suspension of driver licenses of minors caught drinking beer or whisky in automobile. The measure was sent back to committee after Rep. Joseph F. Hiestand, R - Richland, won approval of an amendment to include adults as well as minors.

Measures passed by the House and sent to the Senate would:

Increase from $100 to $500 the person property tax deduction allowed for domestic animals.

Permit municipal and township firemen to answer calls outside their areas.

Ban sale and manufacture of devices except with Highway Department approval.

Create board of examiners for landscape architects.

Increase the penalty for carrying a concealed weapon to include a maximum of one year imprisonment for the first offense.

Cincinnati Orchestra To Make World Tour

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is going on its first world tour in 1966. It was announced Thursday the orchestra, conducted by Max Rudolf, was chosen by the State Department's Advisory Committee on the Arts to represent America on the 10-week trip.

The tour will include stops at one or two major European music festivals, and concerts in Lebanon, Israel, Turkey, Manila, Hong Kong, Formosa, Seoul and major Japanese cities.

Flight Plans Outlined For County Tours

LISBON — Six or eight four-passenger planes will be on the flight line for a Columbiana County agricultural air tour on July 14, according to Don Myers and Herman Reuter, county extension agent and soil conservationist, respectively.

Sponsors of the affair are the Cooperative Extension Service and the Columbiana County Soil and Water Conservation District.

A trial flight Wednesday was made with Don Sickafoose, who operates a commercial flying service and flight school at Magnolia.

He will arrange for the pilots and planes. The tours will begin and end at the Loudon air strip on Route 172, just west of New Garden.

Myers said another trial flight will have to be made with a representative of the Ohio Department of Aviation to get his clearance.

The 45-mile trip will take about 25 minutes and give passengers a view of contour farming, conservation practices, forests, ponds and lakes, strip-mine cuts and reclaimed spoil banks.

Planes will be available from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. They will fly south to Hanoverton and Summitville, southeast of the proposed Highlandtown Lake area, north to the Beaver Creek valley at Gavers and on to Lisbon, then west to Guilford Lake and the Loudon meadow.

Myers said the flights are for anyone interested and that the fee will be determined at the next committee meeting.

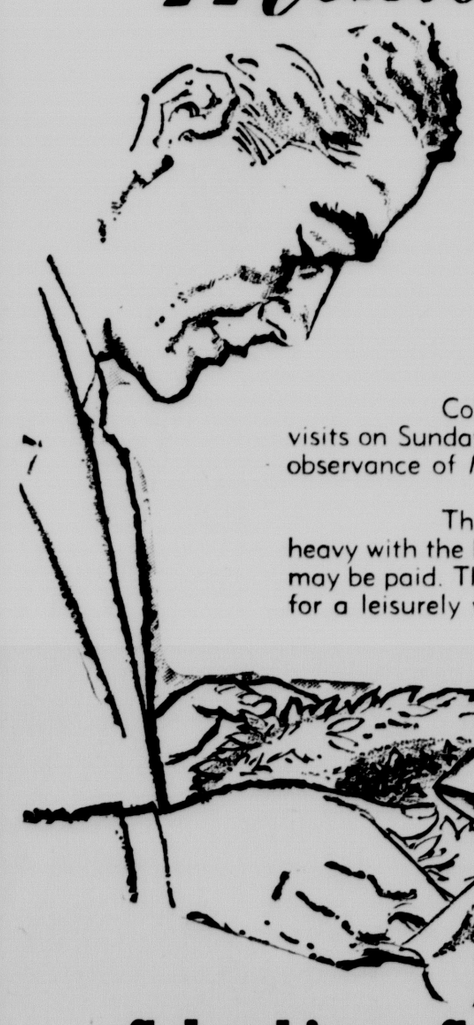
Memorial Day



Memorial Day brings a somber reflection of days gone by. To memories of loved ones who have gone before. Feelings that we harbor through the year find outward expression in our floral tributes and special prayers on this day.

Columbiana County Memorial Park invites your visits on Sunday, May 30, and Monday, May 31 as the national observance of Memorial Day takes place.

There, in quiet, peaceful surroundings, the air heavy with the breath of spring, tributes to our departed warriors may be paid. The public may pay tokens of respect, or just pause for a leisurely visit.

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is going on its first world tour in 1966. It was announced Thursday the orchestra, conducted by Max Rudolf, was chosen by the State Department's Advisory Committee on the Arts to represent America on the 10-week trip.

The tour will include stops at one or two major European music festivals, and concerts in Lebanon, Israel, Turkey, Manila, Hong Kong, Formosa, Seoul and major Japanese cities.

Flight Plans Outlined For County Tours

LISBON — Six or eight four-passenger planes will be on the flight line for a Columbiana County agricultural air tour on July 14, according to Don Myers and Herman Reuter, county extension agent and soil conservationist, respectively.

Sponsors of the affair are the Cooperative Extension Service and the Columbiana County Soil and Water Conservation District.

A trial flight Wednesday was made with Don Sickafoose, who operates a commercial flying service and flight school at Magnolia.

He will arrange for the pilots and planes. The tours will begin and end at the Loudon air strip on Route 172, just west of New Garden.

Myers said another trial flight will have to be made with a representative of the Ohio Department of Aviation to get his clearance.

The 45-mile trip will take about 25 minutes and give passengers a view of contour farming, conservation practices, forests, ponds and lakes, strip-mine cuts and reclaimed spoil banks.

Planes will be available from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. They will fly south to Hanoverton and Summitville, southeast of the proposed Highlandtown Lake area, north to the Beaver Creek valley at Gavers and on to Lisbon, then west to Guilford Lake and the Loudon meadow.

Myers said the flights are for anyone interested and that the fee will be determined at the next committee meeting.

It singeth low in every heart, we hear it each and all—
A song of those who answer not, however, we may call;
They throng the silence of the breast, we see them as of yore—
The kind, the brave, the true, the sweet, who walk with us no more.

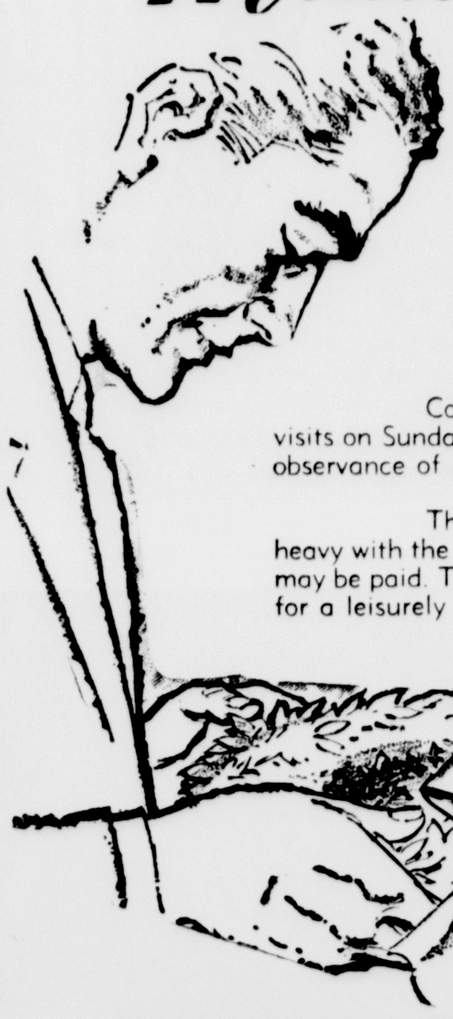
Memorial Day


Memorial Day brings a somber reflection of days gone by. To memories of loved ones who have gone before. Feelings that we harbor through the year find outward expression in our floral tributes and special prayers on this day.
Columbiana County Memorial Park invites your visits on Sunday, May 30, and Monday, May 31 as the national observance of Memorial Day takes place.
There, in quiet, peaceful surroundings, the air heavy with the breath of spring, tributes to our departed warriors may be paid. The public may pay tokens of respect, or just pause for a leisurely visit.

Ex-Buc Schofield Sparks Giants; Astros Whip Cards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Shortstop Dick Schofield, the newest member of the Giants, was telling about shopping for a place to live in San Francisco.

"A lady showed me a place and she wanted $700 a month," he said.

"She must think I'm Willie Mays."

Maybe the lady was doing him a favor. Mays is hitting .368. But Schofield is hitting .389 for the Giants.

Schofield, who wound up with San Francisco in a shortstop swap that sent Jose Pagan to Pittsburgh, hit safely in his fifth consecutive game for the Giants Thursday, driving in three runs with a double and a single in a 9-2 victory over Cincinnati.

The 30-year-old switch hitter now has stroked seven hits, including three doubles, in 18 at-bats for the Giants. Pagan, who was hitting .205 when he was traded, has yet to play for the Pirates.

Elsewhere in the National League, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers edged Milwaukee 3-2, Houston whipped St. Louis 6-1 and the New York Mets outlasted the Chicago Cubs 8-5. The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game was rained out.

Schofield started his performance when he drew a walk in the third inning and scored on singles by Jesus Alou and Willie McCovey, putting the Giants ahead to stay 2-1. He then slapped a two-run single in a three-run fourth-inning uprising and ended the scoring with a run-producing double in the eighth.

The Dodgers won it in the ninth as Willie Davis singled, moved to third on an intentional walk and Jim Lefebvre's infield hit and scored when Denny Lemaster issued a walk to pinch-hitter Al Ferrara.

Lemaster, now 2-5, locked in a pitching duel with Johnny Podres, 3-0, took a four-hitter into the ninth.

The Astros put it out of reach against the Cardinals in the first two innings, scoring three runs with only two hits off Ray Washburn.

Dick Groat's throwing error on an attempted inning-ending double play in the second inning let in two runs after Houston had scored in the first when Eddie Kasko doubled and came around on an infield out and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly.

Jim Wynn hit his eighth homer for the Astros while Dick Farrell brought his record to 4-1 by scattering seven hits.

Ed Kranepool, Johnny Lewis and Ron Swoboda drove in seven of the Mets' eight runs against the Cubs.

Lewis doubled and Kranepool hit a sacrifice fly in a two-run first, Kranepool slapped a two-run double as the Mets made it 5-0 in the second inning and Swoboda stroked a two-run single that upped the bulge to 7-0 in the fourth.

Hamill Didn't Lose Many . . .

AN ERA in West Virginia High School athletics passed this week when Carl R. Hamill, director of Junior High Physical Education in Hancock County, announced his resignation.

Hamill, who is 62, spent 36 years in the County school system and 22 of those were as head coach of three sports teams at Weir High where he turned out championship squads.

Over a period which stretched from 1929 to 1950, Hamill's football teams won 170 games, lost only 35 and tied 13. His basketball record was just as good, with 370 wins and 127 losses.

Numerous athletes who played under Hamill went on to college and professional ranks. Coaching runs in the Hamill family and his son Carl turned out winning basketball teams at Ft. Frye High School near Marietta.

After resigning as coach at Weir High, Hamill became dean of boys at Weirton, serving from 1950 to 1962 when he took the position as Junior High Physical Education director.

Top Cage Talent Works Out . . .

AREA fans who like their basketball any time of the year were treated to some Wednesday night when some of the outstanding high school and college talent worked out at the First National Bank's outdoor court on E. 4th St.

The exhibitions are scheduled to continue, but will be held on Thursdays in the future, starting next week.

Among the cagers who appeared Wednesday were All-American Willie Somerset, Duquesne's all-time scorer; Jim McCoy of Marquette fame; Dennis Cuff of Duquesne; Cal Sheffield, ex-Pitt star; Ed Fleming All-American at Niagara U., and Frank Fitz of Youngstown U.

From the high school ranks were Ken Durrett, the brilliant sophomore who played at Schenley High; Sim Hill, the top player in Pennsylvania last season; Brent Lake, and the cream of Youngstown high school talent from last season.

The workouts are being held through the cooperation of the bank and the efforts of Bob Wycoff, a basketball enthusiast and sponsor of the Auto Body team which captured the independent tournaments at Wellsville and East Liverpool this year.

The first exhibition drew a good crowd. Next week's action will get underway about 6 p. m. and Frank Granant, the 7-1 star from Alliance College, is expected to join the college talent.

Hill Headed For Wichita . . .

SPEAKING of basketball, Hill, the 6-5½ scoring and rebounding machine, has changed his mind on colleges.

Last month Hill signed a letter of intent to attend Bowling Green, but Thursday said he would be heading for the University of Wichita. He talked to Wichita officials earlier this week and signed a letter of intent to the Missouri Valley Conference school.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

WE SEE where Cassius Clay wants the next championship fight outdoors. It might be a good idea, the smell might not be as bad.

If the boxing public couldn't see through the fight game before, they must be wide awake now.

The majority of writers covering the fight and those people who make a living in boxing give Clay a clean bill, but could not digest what Liston did, when he pulled his first-round elfoldo.

BILL SCHNEIDMILLER, a former professional baseball player and basketball official here, is now residing in Las Vegas, where he is a sales representative with the American Auto Association.

Bill pointed out that high school sports in the Las Vegas area are improving, but do not hold a candle to the competition in the Ohio Valley, especially in football and basketball.

He also attended the golf tournament of champions and, being an Ohioan, rooted for Jack Nicklaus.

Dean Chance Chased Again

Suffers 4th Loss In Row; Twins Lose

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Did somebody ask what was wrong with Dean Chance?

It's obvious. Just a serious case of outs. He can't seem to get many.

Chance, the Cy Young Award winner last season, continued his 1965 slide Thursday, absorbing his worst pummeling in two seasons as Washington battered Los Angeles 9-6.

It was the fourth straight loss for Chance in just over two weeks and left the Angel swifty with an inflated 4.72 earned-run average.

The only thing swift about Chance against the Senators was the time it took Washington to knock him out. The Senators assaulted him for seven runs and eight hits in 2 2-3 innings.

You have to go back to May 12, 1963, for a similar assault on Chance. That day he gave up five runs in 1 1-3 innings against the White Sox.

Chance, who said he was worried after dropping his third straight last week, must be terrified today following his nightmarish encounter with the Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston dropped Minnesota out of first place, blanking the Twins 2-0 and Detroit tagged New York 4-1.

Chance has given 32 earned runs in his 11 appearances and has barely resembled the 20-9 pitcher he was a year ago. Dean started with three straight victories but has failed to win in his last five starts.

A two-run triple by relief pitcher Marshall Bridges knocked Chance out in the third as the Senators exploded for six runs. Joe Cunningham and Frank Howard homered for Washington with Howard's shot landing off the mezzanine 460 feet from home plate in D.C. Stadium.

Whitey Ford, who had shut out the Senators for New York in his last start, quit after just one inning against the Tigers, saying simply that "he didn't have it."

If Ford didn't have it, Detroit's Joe Sparma sure did. The young right-hander drove in two runs with a double and limited the Yankees to five hits with Roger Maris' two-out homer in the ninth spoiling the shutout bid.

The Twins, who had eight homers and two victories in their first two games against the Red Sox in Fenway Park, ran into Dave Morehead. The youngster limited the heavy-hitting Twins to three hits until the ninth inning but got into a jam by loading the bases on three walks after striking out Harmon Killebrew to open the inning.

LOS ANGELES catcher Jeff Torborg puts the tag on Braves' first baseman Gene Oliver as he tried to get back to third after attempting to make it home during action in the second inning of Thursday night's game at Los Angeles. (UPI Telephoto)

Ex-Buc Schofield Sparks Giants; Astros Whip Cards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Shortstop Dick Schofield, the newest member of the Giants, was telling about shopping for a place to live in San Francisco.

"A lady showed me a place and she wanted $700 a month," he said.

"She must think I'm Willie Mays."

Maybe the lady was doing him a favor. Mays is hitting .368. But Schofield is hitting .389 for the Giants.

Schofield, who wound up with San Francisco in a shortstop swap that sent Jose Pagan to Pittsburgh, hit safely in his fifth consecutive game for the Giants Thursday, driving in three runs with a double and a single in a 9-2 victory over Cincinnati.

The 30-year-old switch hitter now has stroked seven hits, including three doubles, in 18 at-bats for the Giants. Pagan, who was hitting .205 when he was traded, has yet to play for the Pirates.

Elsewhere in the National League, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers edged Milwaukee 3-2, Houston whipped St. Louis 6-1 and the New York Mets outlasted the Chicago Cubs 8-5. The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game was rained out.

Schofield started his performance when he drew a walk in the third inning and scored on singles by Jesus Alou and Willie McCovey, putting the Giants ahead to stay 2-1. He then slapped a two-run single in a three-run fourth-inning uprising and ended the scoring with a run-producing double in the eighth.

The Dodgers won it in the ninth as Willie Davis singled, moved to third on an intentional walk and Jim Lefebvre's infield hit and scored when Denny Lemaster issued a walk to pinch-hitter Al Ferrara.

Lemaster, now 2-5, locked in a pitching duel with Johnny Podres, 3-0, took a four-hitter into the ninth.

The Astros put it out of reach against the Cardinals in the first two innings, scoring three runs with only two hits off Ray Washburn.

Dick Groat's throwing error on an attempted inning-ending double play in the second inning let in two runs after Houston had scored in the first when Eddie Kasko doubled and came around on an infield out and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly.

Jim Wynn hit his eighth homer for the Astros while Dick Farrell brought his record to 4-1 by scattering seven hits.

Ed Kranepool, Johnny Lewis and Ron Swoboda drove in seven of the Mets' eight runs against the Cubs.

Lewis doubled and Kranepool hit a sacrifice fly in a two-run first, Kranepool slapped a two-run double as the Mets made it 5-0 in the second inning and Swoboda stroked a two-run single that upped the bulge to 7-0 in the fourth.

Hamill Didn't Lose Many . . .

AN ERA in West Virginia High School athletics passed this week when Carl R. Hamill, director of Junior High Physical Education in Hancock County, announced his resignation.

Hamill, who is 62, spent 36 years in the County school system and 22 of those were as head coach of three sports teams at Weir High where he turned out championship squads.

Over a period which stretched from 1929 to 1950, Hamill's football teams won 170 games, lost only 35 and tied 13. His basketball record was just as good, with 370 wins and 127 losses.

Numerous athletes who played under Hamill went on to college and professional ranks. Coaching runs in the Hamill family and his son Carl turned out winning basketball teams at Ft. Frye High School near Marietta.

After resigning as coach at Weir High, Hamill became dean of boys at Weirton, serving from 1950 to 1962 when he took the position as Junior High Physical Education director.

Top Cage Talent Works Out . . .

AREA fans who like their basketball any time of the year were treated to some Wednesday night when some of the outstanding high school and college talent worked out at the First National Bank's outdoor court on E. 4th St.

The exhibitions are scheduled to continue, but will be held on Thursdays in the future, starting next week.

Among the cagers who appeared Wednesday were All-American Willie Somerset, Duquesne's all-time scorer; Jim McCoy of Marquette fame; Dennis Cuff of Duquesne; Cal Sheffield, ex-Pitt star; Ed Fleming All-American at Niagara U., and Frank Fitz of Youngstown U.

From the high school ranks were Ken Durrett, the brilliant sophomore who played at Schenley High; Sim Hill, the top player in Pennsylvania last season; Brent Lake, and the cream of Youngstown high school talent from last season.

The workouts are being held through the cooperation of the bank and the efforts of Bob Wycoff, a basketball enthusiast and sponsor of the Auto Body team which captured the independent tournaments at Wellsville and East Liverpool this year.

The first exhibition drew a good crowd. Next week's action will get underway about 6 p. m. and Frank Granant, the 7-1 star from Alliance College, is expected to join the college talent.

Hill Headed For Wichita . . .

SPEAKING of basketball, Hill, the 6-5½ scoring and rebounding machine, has changed his mind on colleges.

Last month Hill signed a letter of intent to attend Bowling Green, but Thursday said he would be heading for the University of Wichita. He talked to Wichita officials earlier this week and signed a letter of intent to the Missouri Valley Conference school.

Athletes Vie At Columbus

4 Spring Sports Crowns On Line For Ohio Teams

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Titles are on the line in four sports this weekend as Ohio's high school athletes shoot for honors in baseball, golf, tennis and track.

It's the annual two-day, four-sport spring carnival at Ohio State University's sprawling athletic plant.

The scholastic stars started firing early today in baseball and golf. Tennis play opens this afternoon and the 58th annual track and field spectacular is set for an all-day run Saturday.

New champions are assured in baseball and tennis but defending titlists return in golf and track with good shots at repeating.

Cincinnati Western Hills, 27-0 in regular season play and a two-time state champion, rates the favorite's role in Class AA baseball.

Western opposes Steubenville Catholic (18-4) and Rossford goes against Shaker Heights (20-5) in 1:30 p.m. contests.

In morning action involving smaller schools, Lucasville Valley (15-4) of Scioto County meets Powhatan (10-1) of Belmont County and Versailles (6-4) of Darke County faces Deshler (13-2) of Henry County. The finals in each class are set for 11 a.m. Saturday.

Randy Wertz of Toledo DeVilbiss, who lost in the final round a year ago, and Worthington's Paul Mitchell, unbeaten in 17 starts, are cofavorites to cop the tennis crown.

Singles play this year has an international flavor with Nick Lidskog of Mansfield Madison, an exchange student from Sweden, vying for honors.

Ron Hollinger and Terry Brown of Mansfield Senior look like the duo to whip in doubles.

Barberton Northon, which took team honors last year, and Ross Bartschy Jr. of Upper Arlington, who copped medalist laurels, return in the 36-hole golf match at OSU's Scarlet and Gray layouts.

Fourteen events in each division are slated Saturday in the track and field show. Dayton Dunbar and Fairport Harbor, which won the AA and A titles, respectively, try to retain their championships.

Stiff challenges are expected from Cleveland Glenville, Cleveland East Tech, Dayton Roosevelt and Upper Arlington in AA, and Warren Market, Frankfort and Marion Pleasant in the small-school division.

Some of the standouts to watch include Roosevelt's Mike Kennedy, Jim Calloway and Willie Peterson; Steve Korinchak of Cleveland Rhodes, who set an all-time Ohio mark in the mile run with a 4:15.4 in last week's regional.

Class A cinder stars include Fairport's Mike Thomas in the hurdles; Marion's Larry Midlam in the same events and Warren Market's Roy Frazier, defending Class A sprint king who won the 100, 220 and 440 in regional tests.

EL Bowling Assn. Sets Fete June 5

'The Toe' Signs For '65 Season

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lou (The Toe) Groza, veteran of 18 seasons with the Cleveland Browns, has signed a 1965 contract, and that means new records for the National Football League books.

Every time Groza scores a point—and he was only five points behind the NFL leader last season with a total of 115 points — the league records change. He is the all-time leading scorer with 1,102 points, and no one else is near him. The 1,102 does not include the 259 points The Toe scored from 1946 to 1949, when the Browns were in the old All-American Conference.

He needs to play in only three games to set a record for the most NFL games played—177.

Athletes Vie At Columbus

4 Spring Sports Crowns On Line For Ohio Teams

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Titles are on the line in four sports this weekend as Ohio's high school athletes shoot for honors in baseball, golf, tennis and track.

'It's the annual two-day, four-sport spring carnival at Ohio State University's sprawling athletic plant.

The scholastic stars started firing early today in baseball and golf. Tennis play opens this afternoon and the 58th annual track and field spectacular is set for an all-day run Saturday.

New champions are assured in baseball and tennis but defending titlists return in golf and track with good shots at repeating.

Cincinnati Western Hills, 27-0 in regular season play and a two-time state champion, rates the favorite's role in Class AA baseball.

Western opposes Steubenville Catholic (18-4) and Rossford goes against Shaker Heights (20-5) in 1:30 p.m. contests.

In morning action involving smaller schools, Lucasville Valley (15-4) of Scioto County meets Powhatan (10-1) of Belmont County and Versailles (6-4) of Darke County faces Deshler (13-2) of Henry County. The finals in each class are set for 11 a.m. Saturday.

Randy Wertz of Toledo DeVilbiss, who lost in the final round a year ago, and Worthington's Paul Mitchell, unbeaten in 17 starts, are cofavorites to cop the tennis crown.

Singles play this year has an international flavor with Nick Lidskog of Mansfield Madison, an exchange student from Sweden, vying for honors.

Ron Hollinger and Terry Brown of Mansfield Senior look like the duo to whip in doubles.

Barberton Northon, which took team honors last year, and Ross Bartschy Jr. of Upper Arlington, who copped medalist laurels, return in the 36-hole golf match at OSU's Scarlet and Gray layouts.

Fourteen events in each division are slated Saturday in the track and field show. Dayton Dunbar and Fairport Harbor, which won the AA and A titles, respectively, try to retain their championships.

Stiff challenges are expected from Cleveland Glenville, Cleveland East Tech, Dayton Roosevelt and Upper Arlington in AA, and Warren Market, Frankfort and Marion Pleasant in the small-school division.

Some of the standouts to watch include Roosevelt's Mike Kennedy, Jim Calloway and Willie Peterson; Steve Korinchak of Cleveland Rhodes, who set an all-time Ohio mark in the mile run with a 4:15.4 in last week's regional.

Class A cinder stars include Fairport's Mike Thomas in the hurdles; Marion's Larry Midlam in the same events and Warren Market's Roy Frazier, defending Class A sprint king who won the 100, 220 and 440 in regional tests.

Bucks Vs. OU In Tourney

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—It may be a case of the irresistible force meeting the immovable object when Ohio State and Ohio University meet in the District 4 NCAA Baseball Tournament here today.

The two powerhouses advanced to the second round of play with victories over out-of-state opponents Thursday.

The Buckeyes, Big Ten champions, easily dropped Ball State of Indiana, 4-0, behind the three-hit pitching of John Durant.

The Mid-American Conference champion Bobcats squeezed by Detroit, 7-6.

The two Ohio teams meet at 1 p.m. today following a morning contest in the losers bracket between Detroit and Ball State. The loser of the first game will drop out of the double-elimination tournament.

Later in the afternoon, the loser of the Ohio State-Ohio U. game will meet the winner of the Detroit-Ball State contest.

The Buckeyes now are 24-11 for the season.

Thursday's win was the 22nd straight for the Bobcats, giving them a season mark of 28-1.

Pitcher Tom Murphy picked up his tenth victory of the season against no setbacks, but did so with the help of relief pitching in the ninth, when Detroit stranded two men on the bags.

Liston, Clay May Meet On Capitol Hill

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston may square off again — on Capitol Hill.

The senior Republican on the potent House Interstate Commerce Committee, Rep. William L. Springer of Illinois, says he can't see how "you can get around calling Liston and Clay" to testify when the committee holds hearings on chairman Oren Harris' bill to create a federal boxing commission.

Harris has promised quick hearings on the bill. It would include authority to forbid accounts of a fight to be carried in interstate commerce—by wire services, radio or television — if the commission found any evidence of collusion, bribery, racketeering or terrorism.

Harris' bill was thrown into the hopper against a backdrop of widespread congressional criticism of heavyweight champion Clay's one-round knockout of Liston Tuesday night in Lewiston, Maine.

In recent years, there have been many calls on Capitol Hill to do something about boxing, but nothing has been done. This time there appears to be a mood that could force action.

Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., strapping son of former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney, said in a statement that the Clay-Liston fight was "another example of the reason that boxing has fallen into such ill repute in this country."

Tunney and Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., had earlier introduced bills to ban monopolistic practices in boxing. The bills have been referred to the House Judiciary Committee.

Rep. Robert Michel, R-Ill., introduced a resolution Thursday to give the Judiciary Committee power to investigate boxing. Michel suggested there be no more heavyweight title fights until the probe is completed.

Harris said his bill could serve as a basis for committee hearings to find out if it is the right approach to the problem or if another might be better.

On the Senate side, Democrat Philip A. Hart of Michigan plans to introduce — possibly next week — the 1965 version of his bill to create the office of federal boxing commissioner and provide machinery to investigate controversial fights.

"That's not what I meant when I said 'clear the table.' "

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I shrink colored cottons and linens?

A. — Soak in cold water for several hours, then squeeze out the water, but don't wring the material. Hang on the clothesline, or if you have an automatic dryer, dry it in this machine with several dry Turkish towels that will buffer the fabric as it tumble - dries. Buy nonshrunk cottons and linens with the foreknowledge that these materials will shrink anywhere from one to three inches per yard.

Q. — How can I obliterate a scratch on walnut furniture?

A. — An old, but still effective, remedy is rubbing over the scratch with a freshly - shelled walnut kernel.

Q. — How can I make for easier and quicker lighting o birthday candles on a cake at the table?

A. — Try this: Light your candles about an hour beforehand and let burn for a few minutes. Then blow them out and pour three or four drops of lighter fluid over their wicks. Then later, a touch of flame, and they'll light instantly.

Q. — How can I take proper care of a chamois that has been used for cleaning windows or washing the car?

A. — Rinse the chamois out at least three times, shake well, and hang up to dry. Pull and shake several times while it is drying, and this will keep it soft. A chamois should dry slowly, and never in the sun.

Q. — How can I strengthen glassware, and make it less fragile?

A. — Put your glassware into a vessel filled with slightly salted water which you allow to come slowly to a boil. The slower your boiling, the hardier your glassware.

Q. — How can I boil an egg that is cracked?

A. — If you'll add a little vinegar to your water, this will prevent tte white of the egg from boiling out.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRD SANCTUARIES

QUESTION: How do bird sanctuaries protect birds?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Bird sanctuaries are part of the great conservation movement which is working to save our natural resources. Americans are realizing they must conserve water power, the soil, the forests — and the wild life, too. Birds are immensely useful, destroying countless harmful insects as well as providing interest and inspiration to millions of people.

The increasing growth of American's towns and cities has threatened the life of many birds. There is no doubt that the larger number of bird sanctuaries now in operation have greatly helped to keep our bird population going. Sanctuaries give migrating birds a safe place to rest and feed and provide protection during the vital nesting period. As an example, certain islands off the coast of Texas where the rare and beautiful Roseate Spoonbill nested were becoming abandoned by the birds because of human interruption. There was a danger that these wonderful birds would become extinct. But through the efforts of the National Audubon Society, several island groups were set aside as bird sanctuaries and patrolled during the nesting season, with the result that the pink spoonbill population of Texas increased by the thousands.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up the Roseate Spoonbill in a book on birds and learn the reason for the unique spoon-shaped bill and also the pink and white color arrangement which make these birds so beautiful. Then color our picture, following the description in the bird book.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Bitter 16" told how selfish most teen-age boys are — how they chase the two or three good - lookers while the plain girls sit home, dateless and miserable.

Not ALL teen-age boys are that way. A few months ago I had an experience that proved it.

My hobby is photography. I was asked to run the photo concession at a prom. The big problem was the repeaters — those who kept coming back again and again.

One young ruggedly handsome fellow kept returning with a different girl every 20 minutes. I finally said, "You've had about 10 pictures taken. Aren't you overdoing it?" He gave me a wink as he handed me his quarter.

A few minutes later he came back alone and whispered, "If you don't mind I'd like to bring a few more gals over. Some of the girls don't have dates tonight and I'd like to see that they have at least a souvenir picture."

This chap had been seeking out the wall-flowers and paying for the pictures himself. Sweet? —RENEWED FAITH.

-:-

Dear Renewed: You bet! I always knew there were such teen-agers around but I'm glad to let millions of others know it, too.

Life-Time Contract

Dear Ann: Vera and I are successful, middle-aged, unmarried career people. We've often congratulated each other on the joys of freedom.

Last night we discussed marriage as a "sporting proposition." We both know couples who, when their marriage failed, tore each other apart in the divorce court.

We are considering marriage with the understanding that if things don't work out we will meet in a lawyer's office, shake hands, sign the papers and part company in a civilized manner. There would be no settlement or alimony jazz.

What do you think of this?—MATURE.

Dear Mat: Not much. Marriage is a promise to love and cherish one another for so long as you both shall live. It is not an agreement that you will stay together as long as she has her figure, or as long as you have your bankroll — or until somebody more attractive comes along.

Unless you two view marriage as a permanent arrangement — a heavy emotional investment, well worth the agony of learning to live together — you'd better stay single and save the court costs.

Unwelcome Chaperon

Dear Ann: Both my husband and I teach. For several years summer school has kept us from enjoying a real vacation. This summer we want to take a two-month trip.

Yesterday my husband's mother announced she'd like to join us. She is financially independent and will pay her own way. My husband said, "If Mother comes along, the trip will be ruined. I'd rather stay home."

My husband's two married sisters who live in this city go off on vacations very suddenly. We never know they are going until we get a post card from 800 miles away. I'm sure they disappear quietly to avoid unwanted company.

I don't want to hurt my mother-in-law's feelings. What should be done? — NINE O'CLOCK BELLE.

-:-

Dear Belle: Your husband should tell his mother that you have been looking forward to this "second honeymoon" and you want it to be just that.

Feeling as you do, if your mother-in-law is permitted to blast her way into your vacation you will all wish you'd have stayed home.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.
